Planning body is 6-3 against dance pavilion

A Detroit developer's proposal to build a summer dance pavilion in a remote part of southwest Romulus got an unfavorable majority vote from the planning commission, but strong support from its chairman and the city's industrial coordinator.

A proposal submitted by Ernest McCausland at the Aug. 21 session of the city's planning commission was held with practically no audience present and little fanfare. It called for a dance pavilion that would handle 1,500 to 2,000 persons and which would be built on a 12-acre site south of Eureka Road, between I-275 Expressway and the C&O Railroad.

Don Treder, chairman of the planning commission, openly backed the developer's proposal, which the body as a whole turned down by a 6-3 vote.

"Objections that the pavilion would create excessive noise and heavy traffic and overtax local police are not borne out by the facts," Treder explained.

The commission chairman said the proposed site is more than 1,000 feet from the closest residence and is only a stone's throw from the I-275 Expressway.

"Mr. McCausland told the commission that he would provide his own police and security force on the premises, so that would take off overburdening our local deputies," he said.

The proposed pavilion, Treder said, would serve liquor and would contain a sunken dance floor with a terrace on a higher level overlooking the dance floor where patrons would be seated at tables. McCausland told council he had a liquor license committed to him.

"The dance floor being sunken would also tend to deaden noise from the pavilion," he added.

Hyle Carmichael, industrial coordinator and former mayor, expressed enthusiasm for the proposed pavilion development.

"The people of Romulus should have some form of entertainment like this to enjoy. The location desired by the developer is remote and would not interfere with anyone's tranquility," he stressed. Treder said McCausland told the planning body that he intended to stay open only about 100 days in the year, mostly during the summer months. He said the pavilion would be open for rental to large groups during daylight hours on the weekends.

Featured at the pavilion would be various ethnic type dances, he told the commission.

After receiving the negative recommendation, city council scheduled a public hearing on the pavilion for Tuesday, Sept. 26, in council chambers at the city hall. At that time, members of the general public can air their views on the pavilion. Final decision will be made by council.

Public hearing set

Controversy brews on senior high-rise

Citizens for and against a proposed senior citizens highrise apartment complex on the site of the Romulus Elementary School will air their views at a public hearing Friday, Sept. 28 at 7:30 p.m. at the Community United Methodist Church, 11160 Olive St.

At last week's (Tuesday) council session, that body indicated support of the concept of a senior citizens complex for Romulus, but did not go on record as where it should be built.

The issue has generated considerable controversy among local townspeople, with strong feelings being expressed on both sides.

During the council meeting, Donna Lee Zavitz, senior citizens coordinator, turned in 140 names on petitions favoring erection of the structure on the site of Romulus Elementary, 11165 Olive St. She said the names were brought to council's attention to counter some 100 names recently turned in by residents against the school site location.

The old school was just purchased last week by North

Cranbrook Associates for $200,000. The school will continue to be used this school year, but if grants are forthcoming from the state and federal governments, Leo Sklar, represents North Cranbrook as its developer, will tear the building down and use the grounds for a senior citizens high-rise building.

Mrs. Zavitz, an ardent supporter of the school site for the senior citizens building, was adamant at remarks by opponents who decried the "riffraff" who would be brought into the neighborhood should the high-rise be built.

She was irate over reports that some members of Community Methodist Church, next to the school site, do not want the senior citizens high-rise in their immediate area.

"How can anyone call senior citizens riffraff?" she asked. "And, how can people who call themselves Christians be against a senior citizens high-rise next to their church?"

Huron school levy is okayed

By BOB AMEEN
ANP Staff Writer

A possible disaster — closing of the Huron Public Schools — was averted Thursday when school district voters approved a 10-mill renewal for one year by a healthy 25 percent margin.

However, a 2.24-mill additional levy was defeated by voters, the measure losing by an almost identical ratio.

Unofficial tabulations in Thursday's election were: 10-mill renewal — 1,025 yes, 763 no; 2.24-mill additional — 1,015 no, 747 yes.

Thursday's special election was the third this year on the 10-mill renewal, the levy earlier going down to defeat when proposed for a 10-year period and a five-year period.

Passage of the millage Thursday will bring the school tax rate to 32.46 mills, or 2.24 mills less than paid last school year by district taxpayers.

Phil Dalley, administrative assistant to Supt. Byron Antcliff, explained that in 1976 the school board, acting on state orders, levied a total millage that fell 2.24 mills short of what it should have been for debt retirement. To make up the deficit, the Huron board last school year in 1977 levied an additional 2.25 mills in debt retirement millage.

With the deficit now made up, the Huron school district will now be levying 2.24 mills less than last year, amounting to a considerable savings to taxpayers.

By putting the additional 2.24 mill proposal on the ballot, Dalley said the board was merely bringing the millage up to last school year's total. Therefore, the revenue that would have been generated would have kept operation of the district's schools at roughly the same level as last year, Dalley said.

Although passage of the 10-mill renewal Thursday will permit continuation of a full instructional program, Dalley emphasized that extra-curricular activities will be dropped and many after-school programs and services will be in doubt.

Included in items that will be eliminated are: athletics, intramural sports, marching bands, yearbooks and Outdoor Challenge, a program especially designed for students who do not go out for athletics and which caters to such activities as hiking and camping, he said.

Such after-school activities as usage of the swimming pool and services of that type "remain in doubt," Dalley stressed.

On the plus side, however, Dalley said some $92,000 will be saved this year, thanks to the help of the Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA) funds which come in to the district.

Of nine CETA-funded teachers now on the Huron teaching staff, Dalley said three are used as permanent substitute teachers, saving the school district $26,000. By eliminating one consultant in special education, another $13,000 was cut from expenditures, he said.

If the Huron school district experiences no layoffs and can keep its CETA teachers, the district will save about $45,000 that would have to go to pay unemployment benefits to those laid off, he added.

In addition, another $8,000 will be trimmed from funds normally going out because the cost of living has not risen as high as anticipated and money will be left over from the amount budgeted, he pointed out. CETA funds for the nine teachers employed under that provision have been extended until Jan. 1. If Congress does not provide CETA funds beyond that date, he said, "difficulties could arise in the second semester".

New Romulus teachers report for duty

The start of the 1978-79 school year in the Romulus Public Schools saw 34 new teachers report for a welcome by the administration and school board last week (Tuesday) at a meeting in the administration building. Supt. James Garfield stressed that the 34 teachers are not all being added to the staff, but are new to the Romulus district. Some are replacements for teachers who have left or who have retired, Garfield said. The new teachers were introduced to the administration, board, and about 350 persons in attendance by Asst. Supt. Marvin Fischer. Special introduction was made by the superintendent to three teachers with more than 30 years in the

Romulus school district — Mrs. Jean Wegienka, Miss Elizabeth Zukley and Gerald Nault. Terry Bird, president of the Romulus Education Association, joined with the board and Garfield in expressing their hopes for a successful school year to come. (Photo by Tom Greenwood, ANP staff photographer.)

Modern angel of mercy

This F-106 "Delta Dart" used by Michigan's 191st Fighter Interceptor Group is the type of aircraft flown by Capt. Gregory J. Maciolek when he delivered the life-saving Ara-A experimental drug to the hospital in Virginia where a five-day old infant lay dying of a rare disease. The Romulus resident made the mercy flight at night from Selfridge Air National Guard Base in time to save the baby.

Romulus pilot flies drug to save infant

A midnight flight by a Michigan Air Guard officer from Romulus proved instrumental in saving the life of a newborn infant suffering from a usually fatal infection.

Making the night flight of mercy in his supersonic F-106 interceptor plane was Capt. Gregory J. Maciolek of the 191st Fighter Interceptor Group.

Maciolek's mission came about when the parents of a five-day-old baby had rushed him to a northern Virginia hospital with a high fever and chicken pox-like lesions on his scalp. Doctors diagnosed his condition as serious and transferred him to Fairfax Hospital in Falls Church, Va., which has a newborn intensive care unit.

The infant was found to be suffering from herpes encephalitis, a viral infection usually fatal to infants. Most who survived the deadly disease had brain damage.

A specialist, Dr. Raul Weintzen told the infant's parents their son had one chance — an experimental drug called Ara-A manufactured by a Detroit pharmaceutical company. The firm granted the use of its still experimental drug on the afflicted infant, even though the new medicine was still undergoing tests.

Arrangements to fly the Ara-A to Washington National Airport was stalled when a thunderstorm knocked out the radar at Detroit's Metro Airport, preventing the plane carrying the precious drug from taking off.

Doctors figures the delay would cost the infant his life. But, fortune smiled when the Fairfax County chapter of the American Red Cross chapter came to the rescue.

At their request, a U.S. Coast Guard helicopter ferried the drug to Selfridge Air National Guard Base. There, Capt. Maciolek took the Ara-A aboard his jet plane well after midnight and took off for Andrews Air Force Base in Maryland.

Military police rushed the drug to the Virginia hospital and doctors administered it to the dying baby. Six hours later, the infant made a miraculous recovery not long after his fever broke.

Three short weeks later, the infant was back home with his parents, well and healthy. He owes his life to the miracle of medicine and the swift supersonic mercy flight of Capt. Maciolek.

CAPT. GREGORY J. MACIOLEK.

Theme park gets zoning

A proposed $40 million theme park southeast of New Boston came one step closer to reality last week (Tuesday) when the Huron Township Zoning Board of Appeals approved a special condition use to its promoters.

An overflow crowd filled Miller Elementary School to air pro and con views on the theme park proposed by Space World of Livonia, headed by Dr. Philip Austin.

Park promoters now will have to go before the township's planning commission to obtain approval for their site plan. They indicated Space World would like to break ground for the park by Oct. 1 of this year.

Several residents who live near the 300 plus acres now under option to Space World expressed alarm at the noise, heavy traffic and general inconvenience they will be subjected to should the theme park be built.

On the plus side, the township will get a sizable percentage of the estimated $1.2 million in taxes which will be generated by the park. However, the stimulation of the economy to the agriculture-oriented community and surrounding area is expected to be the big financial asset.

The park would prove to be a catalyst to the township's economy in the way of businesses such as motels, drug stores, grocery stores, department stores and other establishments that would spring up to take care of the expected influx of permanent residents who would work at the park and the thousands of customers who would patronize the many amusement rides and other entertainment offered.

Opinion around the Huron

Township Hall is that Space World will get its site plan approval and that the expenditure of time and money is all that keeps it from becoming a reality.

Site of the proposed theme park is a tract of land bounded on the north by Ash Road, on the east by Romine Road, on the south by Will Carleton Road, and on the west by the I-275 Expressway.

Phase I of the park would be completed by 1980. Its developers stressed that special stage productions planned at the park would not be of the rock concert variety.

Also, promoters said the park would be financed with private funds and not through the sale of bonds. Exact source of the funding was not disclosed.

Agency on Aging to host conference

Making safe, adequate, affordable housing available to the increasingly greater segment of our population known as senior citizens is a complex and difficult problem. In order to help understand and cope with this problem a three-day conference entitled "Housing and the Elderly: The Conservation Alternative" will take place from Oct. 19 through Oct. 21 at the Radisson Cadillac Hotel in Detroit.

The three-day conference is designed to present practical solutions to this housing dilemma and to explore the philosophy, needs and alternatives of housing for the elderly. Special emphasis will be placed on developing a home repair program designed to meet the needs of the elderly home owner.

Maintenance Central for Seniors (MCS), a nationally known home repair service, based in Detroit and funded by the Detroit-Wayne County Area Agency on Aging will describe in detail its development, operations and outstanding success.

The values and goals of the housing conservation movement also will be included in the framework of the conference, as well as the philosophy, objective and supportive services that are a part of the field of aging.

In formation on registration for the conference is available from Anne Meyers or Helen Pardy at 832-1433, or write Housing for the Elderly, 3750 Woodward Avenue, Suite 32, Detroit 48201.

Romulus names city lawyer; hires firm for overdue audit

Romulus City Council last week acted on a number of items, including the appointment of a law firm to handle the city's legal proceedings and an auditing firm to conduct the already-late city audit.

Named to handle legal affairs is the law firm of Jenkins, Nystrom and Sterlacci of Southfield. Charles Lowther, a member of the firm, will be on duty with offices in Romulus City Hall. He has a master's degree in labor law and has served as a member of the Wayne County prosecutor's office and as assistant city attorney for the city of Royal Oak.

Unanimously approved to conduct the annual city audit for the 1977-78 fiscal year is Doyle Lett and Co. of Troy. The firm submitted the low bid of $14,875 for it and auditing services. Action to name the auditing firm was initiated by Mary Ann Banks, council president.

Clerk Leonard J. Folmar said last June 30 marked the end of the last fiscal year. Bids to select an auditing firm were received July 27 and went to council on Aug. 8, he said.

When completed, the audit will be forwarded to the audit division of the state treasurer's office in Lansing.

In other business, Folmar urged council to authorize the city to build a house for sale on one of the 280 urban renewal lots it recently put up for sale in the Beverly-Wayne roads area.

He told council that by building the first house for sale, private investors might then be influenced into building others, eventually disposing of all of the urban renewal lots.

The clerk suggested that the house be used as an office to sell the lots and later sold as a residential property.

Council members expressed enthusiasm for Folmar's suggestion and asked him to prepare a budget for his proposal and to submit it at the council's next session.

"It is time we took active steps to sell these lots and to complete the urban renewal housing project in that area," Folmar said.

Council also gave unanimous approval to a request from Haven Industries for a 50 percent tax reduction for up to 12 years as permitted under Public Act 198.

The firm, manufactures screw machine projects, has completed its plant at 27985 Northline Rd., between Inkster and Harrison, and will employ 79 employees to start its operations. At the end of two years, Haven hopes to employ a total of 90 persons.

According to the Romulus building department, the firm's plant building cost $550,000 and equipment another $350,000. Taxes for the first year of operation will amount to about $15,820, with $2,745 of that amount going to the city. Most of the balance will go to the local public schools and Wayne County.

At the end of 12 years, taxes will have risen to a higher yearly total and will be doubled.

Final plat approval was given by council to Highland Industrial Co., which will build and lease industrial property on 30 acres of land on Middlebelt Road, south of Wick Road.

Currently, Highland has three warehouses on its property — two built in 1976 at a cost of $161,040 each and one built this year for $201,000.

Controversy

Mrs. Zavitz said one church member who lived clear across the city had expressed himself as opposed to the school site because he did not want undesirables in his neighborhood.

The 2.42 acres of the school site had been recommended for the senior citizen apartment complex because of its proximity to downtown establishments and services, making them easily accessible to elderly residents.

Asked why the public hearing was scheduled at the very church whose members did not want the school site, Mrs. Zavitz remarked, "We might as well bring it (senior high-rise) right to them."

The public hearing by the city council will be co-sponsored by We the People.

Detroit Diesel names Don Atwood new VP

The General Motors Board of Directors has elected Donald J. Atwood its newest vice president and named him general manager of the Detroit Diesel Allison Division.

Atwood, general manager of Delco Electronics Division, will succeed James E. Knott, who is retiring Sept. 1, 1978, following 38 years of service with the division in Indianapolis and Detroit.

Atwood, a native of Haverhill, Mass., has bachelor's and master's degrees in electrical engineering from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

He joined GM in 1959 as associate director of the Boston Research and Development Laboratory for the AC Electronics Division, now Delco Electronics. He became director of the laboratory in 1961, and in 1962 was promoted to director of engineering and sales for AC in Milwaukee. Atwood became director of operations at the Milwaukee facility in 1968.

He first joined Detroit Diesel Allison as manager of Indianapolis Operations when the Detroit Diesel Engine and Allison Divisions were consolidated in 1970.

Atwood left Detroit Diesel Allison to become the first general manager of GM's new Transportation Systems Division when it was formed in 1973, a post he held until moving to his current assignment as general manager of Delco Electronics in Kokomo, Ind., in 1974.

Knott is a native of Springfield, Ohio, attended Miami University at Oxford, Ohio, and was graduated by the University of Michigan with a degree in aeronautical engineering in 1938. He joined the Allison Division in Indianapolis in 1940 as an aircraft engine installation engineer. He served in a variety of engineering and sales-engineering posts leading to his promotion to assistant director of engineering for aircraft engines in 1958.

In 1960 he became director of engineering for aircraft engines, then was named director of engineering and sales for both aerospace and transmission products in 1964. The following year he was appointed plant manager for Allison Indianapolis plants.

Knott was named manager of plant operations for Allison Division in 1968, including the division's Cleveland tank plant, and became general manager of the Division and was elected a General Motors vice president in 1970. Later that same year he assumed his present position as first general manager of the newly formed Detroit Diesel Allison Division with headquarters in Detroit.

Detroit Diesel Allison Division currently is General Motors' fourth largest employer with 25,000 employees. Approximately 10,000 men and women work in the division's Detroit area plants, located in Redford Township and Romulus, producing heavy-duty diesel engines for trucks, buses, boats and a large number of other on- and off-highway applications. DDAD is the largest manufacturer of these products in the U.S.

Detroit Diesel Allison Division is also headquarters for the division's International Operations, overseeing product sales and service in 98 foreign countries, as well as manufacturing operations in Wellingborough, England. DDAI recently opened an Engineering and Service Training Center for European Operations in Rotterdam, Holland.

Allison heavy-duty automatic transmissions and gas turbine engines are manufactured in the Indianapolis plants, employing 13,000 people. The division is the world's largest manufacturer of the transmissions widely used in trucking, construction, mining, forestry and mass transportation industries. Allison gas turbines power helicopters, jet and propeller-driven aircraft, boats and power generators.

Detroit Diesel Allison do Brasil, with manufacturing plants near Sao Paulo, Brazil, produces diesel engines for that country's manufacturers as well as for export.

Public archery range to debut in Romulus

Romulus city officials gathered Wednesday of last week to hold groundbreaking ceremonies for a new public eight-lane archery range at Elmer Johnson City Park. The range is believed to be the first in the nation to be partially financed with federal funds. According to Mrs. Marie

Debuyscher, director of the Romulus Recreation Department, the city will pay $30,000 of the $48,000 total cost, with funds channeled through the state Department of Natural Resources paying for the balance. The range is expected to be completed in 30 days. Shown (left to right) in photo are: Bill

Benefit for kidney victim shapes up

Plans for a benefit dance and fund-raising drive to help pay medical costs for a Romulus fifth grade student who underwent a recent kidney transplant operation are continuing in high gear.

The benefit dance to aid Elaine Rishel will be held Oct. 20 at the Progressive Hall, Ozga Road at Five Points, from 8 p.m. until midnight. Dancing music will be provided free by "The Soft Touch".

The 11-year-old child gave up the will to live at one point prior to her operation. She is now on the road to full recovery, but staggering medical expenses have to be paid off.

Donations can still be made by those persons who do not plan to attend the benefit dance, according to Mrs. Jerry Canejo, by mailing them to: Elaine Rishel Medical Fund-Trust, Attention: Leo Kalota, Manufacturers National Bank, 36450 Goddard Rd., Romulus 48174. Kalota can be called at 941-0600.

Tickets for the dance will be $7.50 per person and are available from Mrs. Canejo, 941-1928; Johnny Johnson, 941-0088; or Mayor William M. Oakley's office, 941-0666.

"I DON'T KNOW WHAT TO SAY...."

Does the question of knowing the "proper" thing to say at the visitation keep you from going to a wake or funeral? It shouldn't!

Your appearance at a wake or funeral is always a support and expression of love to the bereaved. The words you express as you embrace or extend the clasps-of-hand can add a sincere feeling of warmth and concern but the words aren't nearly as important as your "just being there."

Here are some expressions you might consider:
"John was such a fine person. I will miss him."
"My warmest sympathy to you and the family."
"Mary was such a dear friend."
"Many enjoyed life and shared her joys so often with others."

You may find it easier to say these words of comfort if you practice them beforehand when you are alone. Sometimes just hearing yourself say the words out loud makes them easier to express of others.

The Rotating PulpitReasons to attend church

Occasionally I meet people who have little desire for attending church. They feel that they can receive just as much at home as in church. If you are of that number, read what a person like King David wrote about attending the house of the Lord. Here are good reasons for attending church from Psalm 27.

(1) ATTEND CHURCH TO WORSHIP GOD IN APPRECIATION FOR SALVATION.

David worshipped the Lord by declaring, "The Lord is my light and my salvation" (vs. 1). This is in substance the testimony of the church to the world. The church is the center of salvation and the lighthouse in the community. The Bible tells us that Christ loved the church and gave Himself for it. By giving His life for the church shows the church is valuable to God. If we don't attend church we show little appreciation for the great value that God placed on the church.

(2) ATTEND CHURCH TO

BEHOLD THE BEAUTY OF THE LORD.

King David tells us that he desired to dwell in the house of the Lord to behold the beauty of the Lord. (vs. 4) If the beauty of God was visible in the temple, how much more should we behold the beauty of the Lord in the character of Jesus. As the believer matures he grows in Christ — likeness which is the stamp of the beauty of the Lord in the believer. A local church with Christlike members then becomes the reflection of the beauty of the Lord.

(3) ATTEND CHURCH TO HAVE QUESTIONS OF LIFE ANSWERED.

David dwelt in the house of the Lord to inquire in his temple. (vs. 4) He had the "spirit of inquiry" that made every attendance a learning experience. To benefit from the sermons and instructions in the church we also need this "spirit of inquiry". If you are a person who doesn't get much from the message, how closely were you listening? With the right spirit we can gain answers to life's problems every week.

(4) ATTEND CHURCH TO SING PRAISED TO THE LORD.

David proclaimed: "I will sing, yea, I will sing praised unto the Lord". (vs. 6) There is much therapeutic value in singing praises to the Lord in group singing. The church offers hymns that lift up your heart into joyfulness. Praising the Lord in song is one of the delights in this life.

(5) ATTEND CHURCH TO COMMUNICATE WITH GOD.

David cried out: "Hear O Lord when I cry with my voice; have mercy also upon me, and answer me. (vs. 7) What is the advantage of praying together in church? Corporate praying brings the strength of others to our side. We need each other's prayers.

SUFFERING NEEDLESSLY?

Millions are turning to chiropractic because they are recognizing the scientific principles of nature that have made spinal adjustments effective for many conditions where other methods have failed.

The chart below shows the lateral view of the spinal column and indicates in section "A" names of the spinal nerves as they branch from the spinal cord and exit through openings between the vertebrae. All tissues, glands and organs supplied with life energy by these nerves are shown in the section marked "B" in the chart. The section marked "C" describes a partial list of the conditions and symptoms that can result when there is an absence of life in the nerves.

B. Area Supplied by Nerves

SPINAL NERVE INVOLVEMENT CAUSES MANY CONDITIONS

The spinal chart shown above is directed especially to those people who have tried to regain their health through methods other than chiropractic, and have failed. That failure should not lead to discouragement, but to greater determination to discover the fundamental cause of all disease.

Since the discovery of chiropractic, no one needs to feel that he or she is destined to be sick all their life. Remember, "Where there is life there is hope and he who has hope has everything."

Senator Faust's reform rules supported

For those of us fortunate enough to be represented by State Senator William Faust of the 15th District, his most recent attack on Senate excess and waste, should be greeted with applause.

Faust, the 49-year-old, 12-year veteran of the senate, was first elected to his job in 1966. During his campaign for office, Faust was the victim of a hit-and-run accident which left him paralyzed from the waist down.

As an indication of the type of person Faust is, following his accident he conducted his campaign for the Senate from a hospital bed in Ann Arbor. His subsequent victory over incumbent Terry Troutt in that race, is indicative of Faust's abilities to deal with substantial difficulty.

Following his election, Faust was quickly recognized by colleagues as a man of great potential.

The prophecy of Faust's eventual rise to leadership was fulfilled when the Senate Democratic Caucus elected him to the Senate Majority Leadership post, less than two years ago.

With Faust's arrival to the position of Majority leadership, Senate rule reform also arrived.

Faust's first attempt at reform, and the polishing of the Senate's tarnished image, was met with mixed reactions by his colleagues.

The Senate had long been the target of critics for its preoccupation with refurbishments, redecorating, and its general lack of accountability in the expenditure of taxpayer's money.

In an attempt to restore public confidence in the State Senate, Faust's initial reform measures was aimed at controlling the expenditure of funds for internal Senate operations.

While his initial reform program met with little success, Faust has now announced a second plan.

According to Faust, his new program is aimed at tightening up existing controls on the Senate travel and postage privilege—would cut the number of committees and streamline procedural rules. Senate caucuses would be opened to the public, and an ethic code would be enacted for senators and employees. In addition, all travel expenses, hiring and office expenditures would be subject to the Majority leader's approval.

The proposed sweeping reforms of Senate rules would provide the Majority Leader with new powers to appoint committees, pick chairmen, and decide which committees would handle which bills.

According to Faust, he wants to enact the new rules by the end of the month and put them into effect in December when the newly elected senate gathers to choose its leaders.

While it is certain that the rules proposed by Faust will run into strong opposition from veteran senators, he hopes to make the general public aware of the potential benefits of such reform, thereby pressuring the Senate into passage of his reform package.

In fact, it is entirely possible that real Senate reform, if it is to come at all, may hinge on Faust's ability to now convince the public, as well as his colleagues in the Senate, on the value of such measures.

The proposals for reform, according to Faust, "are aimed at correcting the Senate's image as an unresponsive club based on the seniority system which is protective of its members and their expensive privileges."

We urge concerned citizens everywhere to indicate their support of the Faust Senate reform package.

We feel that it is time for the Michigan Senate to accept its responsibility to the citizens of this state by supporting the proposed reform measures as presented by Senator Faust.

We at Associated Newspapers feel that the reform measures sponsored by Faust are worthy of citizen support.

Legislature eyes drug laws

By EDWARD E. MAHALAK
State Representative
38th District

The Legislature has taken a much tougher attitude toward the narcotics traffic, career criminals, arson, pornography and various other criminal activities.

This hard-line attitude has been reflected in action so far this year on a number of bills and resolutions.

The traffic in heroin and other illegal drugs is a serious state-wide problem in Michigan, causing addiction, wasted lives and a spiral of drug-related crimes. One approach to this problem is to get truly tough with the big-time drug pushers.

A series of bills that cleared the Legislature and has been signed into law will require harsh mandatory sentences for large-scale narcotics dealers.

The required sentences range from mandatory probation for life or 10 to 20 years imprisonment for conviction of dealing in 50 to 225 grams of opium and its derivatives which includes heroin, or cocaine, to 20 to 30 years for 225 to 650 grams and life imprisonment for 650 grams or more. Six hundred and fifty grams is 23 ounces, which has a street value of as much as $1 million.

A second conviction in the 50 to 650 gram range would carry mandatory life sentence. The new laws allow no suspended sentences or any parole or time off for good behavior for any of the prison sentences.

These penalties may seem very harsh, but are not inappropriate in terms of the damage that drug dealers do to society. The potential for profit is so great in drug dealing that the old penalties posed little or no deterrent to would-be violators, with lenient probation and parole policies weakening the threat of imprisonment still further.

Two other new laws will better equip police in their investigations of suspected arson cases.

Arson is considered one of the fastest growing crimes in Michigan. In 1976, there were 8,810 confirmed intentionally-set fires, resulting in a property loss of $14.7 million. In the same year, another 8,035 fires were suspected to have been intentional but were not proven so.

One of the two bills established an arson strike force in the State Police Fire Marshal Division, with authority to investigate every case involving conspiracy to commit arson, a fire set to defraud, or any other act of arson. It will also make information, technology and skills available to local arson investigators.

The second new law will make available to arson investigators information which could aid them in their work. It requires insurance companies to release information in their files to arson investigators, upon request, and protects the companies against civil liability for doing so.

The insurance companies had often been reluctant to release this information for fear of prosecution or civil action by someone who might consider himself injured or defamed by the transmission of such information, despite the fact that the files can be of considerable value to arson investigators.

In a move to get violent criminals and accused criminals off the streets, the Legislature adopted a proposed constitutional amendment which would limit the guaranteed right to bail. The proposal will be on the November general election ballot.

The Michigan Constitution presently guarantees the right to bail to all except those accused of murder or the rare crime of treason.

Directed against the "Career Criminals," the constitutional amendment would permit a judge to deny the right to bail for a person accused of a felony after two or more convictions of violent crimes in the past 15 years and for those accused

Editor's Log

'I made a mistake...again'

By DENNIS FASSETT
Managing Editor

Well just tell me, who hasn't made a mistake? This past weekend was loaded with potential until Friday evening arrived and I headed to Garden City West football field to witness the scheduled contest between Westland's John Glenn Rockets and West's Tigers.

Normally this would not have developed into such a traumatic experience, but I had made a mistake.

For some reason, known only to him, Associated's Sports Editor Tom Mooradian, has taken to passing around a sheet in the Editorial Department. That form requires that members of this newspaper's staff, guess at the outcome of local football contests.

Quite frankly, I'm no football expert, and the specter of having to guess at the outcome of these games leaves me just a little cold.

But cold would have been a warm welcome, compared to the reception I received at the game. You see, I had made the mistake of guessing that the Rockets would be beaten by West's Tigers.

Now before you nod your head and mutter that I deserve everything I got, let me explain.

While I admit to being no football expert, I still remember last year's start for the Rockets and their loss to Allen Park's Jaguars. It is an old saying that a little knowledge is a dangerous thing, I proved it again.

Thinking that Gordon's Rockets might again fall victim to first game jitters, I picked West to upset them. A desperate gamble.

To understand the reason for that gamble it is only necessary to visit the Associated Newspapers' newsroom on Monday mornings.

At that time, the staff members who have made the most right guesses unmercifully roast those staff members who guessed wrong.

Well it didn't take long for West's offensive line, and Glenn's Rockets to make me look like "the loser of the year." In fact, West's line was outplayed and out-hustled for the entire game.

In order to get 'one up' on the Monday Morning quarterbacks in the newsroom, I gambled, and I lost.

Alright, I can handle the smart-alecks of the newsroom, but even before that Friday evening game started, I was subjected to uncalled for abuse by irate Glenn parents. And that abuse came at the hands of several former friends of West's Tigers.

Under the guise of loyal Glenn fans, they hurled such remarks as "Hey Fassett, who's going to win this game?" At that point the score was 40 to zip. Others asked who had allowed me to attend the game.

Now I want it understood that I am a fair person. I am more than willing to listen to such comments, but Howard Perryman went too far.

Well, just remember all you smarties out there, who would be laughing if Glenn had lost?

I think I have just made another mistake!

Well, just remember all you smarties out there, who would be laughing if Glenn had lost?

There he was standing in front of the dealership with a huge smile on his face.

As I opened the door to welcome him in, he said, "How could you have ever picked West to beat Glenn?" There followed raucous laughter from his hearing frame.

Jumping at the chance to gain an ally, I rushed to his aid.

Councilman hits us on editorial opinion

Editor:

In your previous editorial of August 30, 1978, your paper stated a negative view of my position against expanding the bill board (sign ordinance) from its present 600 sq. ft. to 672 sq. ft. You also stated that maybe this was a sign of time.

In your editorial on September 6, 1978 I believe you supported the minority action in voting against sign ordinances.

I wonder who's suffering from your, so called foot in mouth?

My only comment about tapes is that the public does have the right to anything purchased with tax dollars or public funds; pursuant to federal, state constitution and city charter and existing laws.

If the paper had shown the common courtesy of requesting my reply as to what I said in a public meeting, I would have shown how glad I was to respond.

I take pride in citing some of my accomplishments in civic pride with the help of my colleagues on the council:

Saved taxpayers $125,000 by deletion of 1 percent Tax Collection Fees for 1978.

Not voting for reassessment of property taxes prematurely (per charter).

Adding state police to our interstate highways, Dial A Ride, senior citizens housing, expansion of water and sewer system, etc.

Of course I am hoping to get equal time to answer your editorials of August and September.

Yours,
Jimmie C. Raspberry
Romulus City Councilman

Editor's note:

The first paragraph of Councilman Raspberry's letter apparently refers to a front page news story of the council's action regarding the proposed sign ordinance amendment.

News stories as such, do not represent the opinion of this newspaper.

Councilman Raspberry is correct when he concluded that this newspaper supported his position on the rejection of the proposed sign ordinance.

Relative to our comments regarding the councilman's remarks which are on tape, we always check our information prior to writing either news stories or our editorial comments. In this case, the city tape recorder provided all necessary information to support our conclusions.

'A hysterical neurotic'

By JOYCE HAGELTHORN

I had just taken over the wheel on our long journey to the Northland and my husband was scrunched down in the opposite seat.

"Take it easy," he said, "because I'm going to go to sleep." He closed his eyes but opened them quickly when I passed a slow vehicle.

"My God," he shouted. "Are you trying to kill us?"

"Oh for heavens sake go to sleep," and I pulled the car back into the right lane which sent him clawing for the windshield in a veritable frenzy.

"Here Dad, sit back and read something," the kid in the back seat thrust a magazine into her dad's hands opened at an article entitled 'Neurosis: We are all marked by it. Here's how it can work for you.'

For ten minutes we hummed along, and then came a loud snort from the passenger seat.

"This author sure has you pegged right," he said.

Naturally my hair went up on end. I haven't been married for thirty years to a guy without knowing that something downright scurrilous was coming next.

"What kind of a neurotic do you think you are?" he asked.

"I'm not neurotic."

"You're a hysteretic." His smugness almost got him bashed in the nose.

"I am not a hysteretic," I shrieked and jerked the car to the left, spilling him onto the door handle, which fortunately was locked.

"An emotional person who tends to be excited easily, who overreacts... does that sound like you?" he read.

"It does not!" Gripping the steering wheel tighter and clamping on the gas I shouted, "I am not prone to exciting easily and I don't overreact. I am not hysterical." And to punctuate my emphasis I swung the car around a van and flung around the upcoming curve with wild abandon.

"Don't kill us," he yelled. "Can I help it if you are a hysteretic? Now listen to this. Do you get paid a lot of money for being a writer? No... you get your reward with applause like all other hysterics who are usually writers, or poets or singers. It says so right here. So I'll clap my hands if you will slow down."

I slowed down. I slowed down to a crawl and I crept into a rest area. I stopped the car and slowly got out, walking to the other side where I grabbed the magazine and beat him over the head with it.

"Now call me a hysteretic," I yelled, standing in a puddle of magazine pages.

That's when he leaped into the drivers seat and took off with wheels spinning in the gravel. If I hadn't been able to excitedly overreact I would probably be still standing in that puddle of magazine pages.

But I deny I'm a hysteretic. If I hadn't ripped up that magazine, I would have found out what neurosis he has, though.

She explained. "A naked reverse is a play in which the quarterback lines up his men with, usually, an unbalanced line; meaning that there are four players on one side of the center, and only two on the other side. The backfield is also pointed toward the heavy or strong side.

"Now, the quarterback takes the ball from the center, takes a step toward the strong side, and then pivots neatly and dashes around the weak side. He's all by himself, with no blocking. That's why it's called a naked reverse."

"If the defense has taken the fake and has started to move in the direction it appears the play is going, well then the quarterback will most likely pick up some valuable yardage."

The rules have been modified this season, and I guess we'll not see so many scuffles brought down on players' necks. Too bad. Another part of the good old days goes down the drain.

Education: Readyng for life

(This is one of a series of public service articles explaining in general terms, a provision of Michigan law. Individuals who wish to determine the effect of any law on their private legal affairs should consult with a private attorney.)
By ATT. GEN FRANK J. KELLEY

Long before anything like our modern-day universities were conceived, Aristotle said: "Education is the best provision for old age." Today, this could be changed to something like "education is the best preparation for life."

As our society grows more complex, people need more education to cope with their jobs, their home environment and their community.

Community colleges are meeting this need for more education and training in several important ways. They provide a wide range of vocational, technical and occupational programs, offering the student new skills or the chance to improve those they already have.

Community colleges can prepare students for a variety of jobs which require advanced training, but do not require a college degree. And community colleges provide to students on a limited budget the opportunity to complete the first two years of college living at home, before transferring to a four-year institution.

Since 1914, when Michigan's first community college was established in Grand Rapids, our state has been a national leader in developing the community college concept. The 1963 Constitution includes provisions to encourage the establishment and expansion of community colleges in every section of Michigan.

In the past 20 years, the number of these schools has nearly doubled from 15 to 29, now serving more than 80 percent of Michigan's population living in districts served by community colleges. This expansion makes it possible for 189,000 people to receive some kind of advanced training every year.

Each community college is governed by its own locally elected board of trustees. In this way, each college can be responsive to the needs of residents of its own area and establish programs to meet the particular needs of its residents.

Community colleges are funded with both local and state money. Half of the operating cost is appropriated by the State Legislature, while the other half is raised by tuition and local taxes.

Community colleges serve Michigan by making further training and education available to the majority of adults in the state. They have opened the door to better jobs and better lives for many, and at the same time benefit all by providing many of the skilled people needed to meet the requirements of our rapidly changing society.

Eastern Market will be site of annual greenery event

The second annual Nursery and Landscape Day at the Eastern Farmer's Market will be Sept. 24 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

More than 50 suppliers of horticulture products will be available to display fall mums, trees, shrubs, bulbs, houseplants and related materials.

At the event also will be musicians, dancers, puppeteers, clowns and other activities for the whole family. Admission is free.

This exhibit is a fall counterpart to the annual spring flower show, held the end of

May. Home gardeners will have an opportunity to see different plant varieties, seek advice from landscapers, horticulturalists and master gardeners from southeastern county Cooperative Extension Services. For the first time, representatives of various plant organizations will be available to offer advice and recruit new members.

The Eastern Market is located at 2934 Russell, just east of I-75 and south of I-94. Plenty of free parking is available.

The event is co-sponsored by the City of Detroit Bureau of Markets, the Metropolitan Detroit

Landscape Association and the Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service.

The horseshoe crab is thought to be virtually unchanged from its form 300 million years ago.

Diving reflex, quick action revive drowning victims

Two-year old Melvin had been missing for nearly 20 minutes when a rescuer in a rowboat finally found him. Melvin was floating, face down, 30 feet offshore in the icy waters of a lake near his home in Ann Arbor, his body blue and lifeless.

But Melvin's mother could not and would not believe that her son was dead. She instantly began mouth-to-mouth resuscitation and massaged the child's chest.

By the time Melvin arrived at the University of Michigan Hospital 12 miles away, he was fully conscious. He fussed and fidgeted throughout a series of chest X-rays, brain scans, and other tests. Next morning, bright-eyed and bouncing Melvin went home.

Dr. Marin J. Nemiroff, a noted specialist on diving at the University of Michigan, decided Melvin was alive not only by his mother's prompt action, but also by the so-called diving reflex.

Dr. Nemiroff defines the reflex as a "involuntary neural response (it is commonly found in all vertebrates), that delays suffocation by shunting oxygen from the arteries to the heart, brain, and lungs." When a man's face is immersed in cold water, a reflex is activated that immediately slows the heartbeat and constricts the peripheral arteries.

Through Melvin's survival, and other noted cases, the University hospital has decided that the diving reflex may enable many people to survive submersion in cold water for long periods. Although human beings soon become unconscious, after involuntary submersion, the diving reflex allows the heart to maintain a feeble but constant supply of blood to the brain.

Actually very little is known about the human diving reflex. Scientists do know, that diving mammals like whales, porpoises, and seals depend on a similar mechanism to survive long periods underwater. The key factors for surviving submersion without permanent injury appear to be the length of time spent underwater, the temperature of the water, the age of the individual and the promptness of resuscitation efforts. Since the protective effect of the diving reflex is lost as soon as the individual is taken out of the water, resuscitation should be started immediately at the water's edge.

What should you do if confronted with this cold water emergency?

First, begin resuscitation immediately. Next, wrap the victim's body with a blanket to prevent him or her from losing additional body heat. Continue resuscitation and get the victim to the nearest hospital as soon as possible. Above all, continue resuscitating the victim. Drowning victims appear lifeless, however, if the water was cold enough, (under 70 degrees) there still is a good chance for survival.

If you would like additional information concerning the cold water diving reflex, contact a district marine agent through your local Cooperative Extension Service or the U.S. Coast Guard.

RESOLUTION 78-389

Kosin, Mitas wed in afternoon ceremony

A week-long honeymoon in Northern Michigan followed the summer wedding of Beverly Kim Mitas of St. Charles and Mark Anthony Kosin of Belleville. The young couple exchanged vows and rings at St. Mary's of Albee Catholic Church in St. Charles before some 400 guests on Aug. 26.

The two o'clock rite was conducted by the Rev. William Taylor, cousin of the bridegroom.

The ceremony united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Mitas of 5601 Fergus, St. Charles, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Kosin of 14167 Elwell Rd., Belleville.

The bride held a bouquet of red roses, white carnations and trailing English ivy as she walked up the aisle with her mother and father. For her wedding day she selected a gown of white qiana with silk Venice lace tracing the open neckline and Queen Anne collar. The lace motif was repeated on the lifted bodice, on the long, fitted sleeves below the elbow and again on the hem of the A-line skirt. An attached wattle train added back interest.

Her waltz-length veil of silk illusion cascaded from a little lace cap and was banded with scalloped Venice lace.

Preceding the bride to the sanctuary were six attendants wearing identical qiana gowns designed with spaghetti strap bodices covered by matching sheer capes. Combs with attached flowers were worn in their hair and they carried bouquets of roses, carnations and daisies to match their frocks.

Appearing in shades of the rainbow were the maid of honor Marie Mitas of St. Charles, the bride's sister, who wore peach; Mary Kosin and Rita Kosin of Belleville, sisters of the bridegroom in pink and yellow, respectively; Patricia Maziarz of St. Charles, cousin of the bridegroom in green; Diane Schlaack of Chesaning, in blue, and the junior bridesmaid, Patricia Kosin, sister of the bridegroom, in orchid.

Michael Kosin of Belleville was his brother's best man. The corps of groomsmen included Terry Christianson, Michael Dudick and Keith Gattis, all friends from Belleville and Thomas Sewejkis, cousin of the bridegroom from Dearborn Heights. Chester Kosin III and Frank Kosin of Belleville were ushers at their brother's wedding.

The K of C Hall in Chesaning was reserved for the reception which followed. At the dinner-dance the 400 relatives and friends were greeted by Mrs. Mitas in a formal sleeveless gown of pink polyester knit with a beaded bodice and matching sheer cape. Her corsage was comprised of pink roses. Mrs. Kosin wore for her son's wedding a sleeveless brown and cream bamboo print with a cowl neckline and open back. She, too, was honored with a corsage of roses, only in yellow.

Temporarily residing at 123 S. Lakeside Dr., Lake Leann, the newlyweds plan to move to Belleville in the near future.

Mark, a 1972 graduate of Belleville High School, is employed in his dad's business, Kosin's Auto Parts of Inkster. His bride is a 1978 alumna of Chesaning High School.

The rehearsal dinner, hosted by the bridegroom's parents, was held at Gracie's Country House in Chesaning.

HV Council 'scouting' new leaders

Men, working women and college students, as well as mothers, are being actively recruited as Girl Scout volunteers in a special drive launched by the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council.

The drive, which began Aug. 28 and runs through Sept. 15, is using local media appeals, church service announcements and speeches to service clubs to enroll volunteers to work with Girl Scouts, ages 6 to 17, in Washtenaw, Livingston, Western Wayne and Monroe counties. In this Council area, nearly 18,000 girls are served.

In addition to troop and assistant leaders, the Council is enlisting volunteer troop services directors, who recruit and assist troop leaders. Resource people who share expertise of any kind from kite-making to metallurgy with Girl Scout troops at just one or two meetings are also being sought.

In announcing the drive, Council president Fran Bauer said, "There is a job for every kind of person who is sincerely interested in joining our World of Girl Scouting. Although mothers are the foundation of our organization, we are actively seeking fathers, college students, young adults and retirees who are interested in volunteering some time to our girl members."

Volunteers in the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council enjoy certain benefits, she added. They are included in seminars and training sessions relating to group behavior, child development and human relations through Council programs.

They can also attend national conferences.

Interviews are held with all prospective volunteers to determine their interests and abilities. For further information, call the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council at 483-2370

Seems mere weeks ago that I sat out on this very deck facing BG's lush fertile garden, anticipating the promise which the little green spikes, the heading plants and bushy growths displayed.

And — here 'tis — nearly autumn with the weather having played havoc with anything remotely green. All the tomatoes have been transformed — either into juice or the stewed variety — and will be welcome contributors to chili, spaghetti sauces, Spanish rice, soups, stews and the many casseroles that winter calls for. Some of the pints will see their way to Evanston where our Susie Homemaker there will put 'em to proper use. Lu's a good cook!

Zucchini, on its farewell journey, is about to be replaced by three of its kinfolk — butternut, acorn and buttercup squash. Late cabbage is still forming heads and the brussel sprouts are almost bursting off their stalks.

That old standby, parsley, continues to produce and there are still two stands of sweet corn for the taking. Cucumbers and bell peppers were scarce this season due to the drought but the potatoes and beets kept up their pace with the Spanish onions and are very plentiful.

It's sure not a PRETTY spot anymore but that oversized plot came through once again with lots of good eating for a few people.

Fiction fans, who lean towards novels with a political root, will find "Full Disclosure" by William Safire fast-paced and intriguing.

An assassination plot aimed at the two world leaders, the Russian premier is killed and the President of the United States has survived. But — the confident, vital young leader is left totally blind. And from there the reader is taken on a journey of deceit, distrust, conniving and a fight for power.

If you liked "Advice and Consent", one of the best works on inner-politics which gave birth to a stream of sequels, you'll not want to miss "Full Disclosure". And it's a biggie — in paperback, 625 pages.

Wow, are we gonna have a reunion! Got an invite last week to the golden wedding celebration of my aunt and uncle, my dad's youngest sister and her husband. Can't believe they're chalking up a half century.

Aunt Virg (she was always "Virg", not Virginia or Ginny) is the mother of 10; seven of whom were born when she and Uncle Harold lived next door to us during the war. (Don't ask, "what war")

My mother always remarked about a dozen kids living so close and getting along so well. What she meant was that she and my AUNT never had misunderstandings because of their offspring; we kids DID have ours.

There was a constant animosity towards cousin Jerome since he had the only shiny new bike in the crowd and LOVED to lord it over the rest of us. But, oh, was he a good housekeeper. The oldest in a line of four boys and three girls, he was Aunt Virg's number one houseboy. And every Saturday he'd literally "strip" the living room — moving everything out onto the long front porch — and then clean from the bottom up.

Richard was a devil and a love and our baseball buddy (always figured he'd make the majors). His job was the nightly dishes and he was forever skipping out mid-suds to bat a few balls with the rest of us kids.

Kenneth was the mysterious quiet one and Ronnie was just a typical pesty little brother. Their three sisters, Barb, Kay and Patti, were darling little girls EXCEPT when it came to "sticking up" for their crew — whew!

It was fun living next door to that gang and I'm looking forward to that get-together in Temperance where some of the kids still live. It'll be interesting to compare notes not only on their children and grandchildren (?) but with some other 19 first cousins as well (there are some 33 of us altogether.) Add to that the families of my aunt's first cousins (five of 'em who were raised as part of their family when their mother died) and you've a small army!

It'll be SOME reunion; I hope that Kay has arranged a large enough spot to hold all of us.

Words very often misspelled: restaurateur ("u" rather than an "n"); acolyte (one "c" — got this one wrong for ages before I spotted it in another story and looked it up); anoint (one "n"); bookkeeper (two "k's"); pompon (NOT pompon which friend and co-worker, Bert O., then a fellow proof reader) pointed out to me years ago when I had so many weddings using pompon mums.)

There IS a pom-pom but it's an automatic machine cannon; so called because of its sound.

Planning a menu for a large group of people? Try this on for size. The largest single dish in the world, according to the Guinness Book of World Records, is roasted camel, prepared occasionally for Bedouin wedding feasts.

Cooked eggs are stuffed in fish, the fish stuffed in cooked chicken, the chickens stuffed into a roasted sheep carcass and the sheep stuffed into a whole camel.

B-u-r-p.

It's a magic charm you're looking for when striving for a hole-in-one, you might take along one Dutch Atchinson of Atchinson Ford fame. Seems the man has witnessed four in his years of golfing — three of 'em in the past two years and the last two coming just two MONTHS apart.

Dutch can't recall who the first honors belong to but, in 1977, while on a par-3 tee in Arizona he saw Tom Hopka (formerly of Belleville and now of Knoxville, Tenn.) get his ace; this past June watched Bert Smith's face as he discovered his Top-Flite in the cup at Tecumseh Country Club and just two weeks ago at the same club witnessed the prowess (luck) of his buddy Ike Porter who'd been in the foursome when Smith put it away.

And if Dutch isn't available you might invite Virginia Turney out to the links with you. She's been on the tee to see three gals, here and in North Carolina, experience the biggest coup in golfdom. I'll take Virginia AND Dutch!

CHEERS: to Michigan State Police for their vigilance this past holiday weekend. Their mere presence seems to be one of the answers to cutting down accidents and fatalities most effectively.

JEERS: to that segment of the traveling society who deem it "cool" to deride the dedication of those "bears."

THE BOTTOM LINE: We flatter those we scarcely know, we please the fleeting guest, and deal full many a thoughtless blow to those who love us best.

Nita Southward now Mrs. George Gilpin

The marriage of a former Belleville woman, Nita Southward, was held Aug. 31 at the Booneville, Miss. home of her aunt, Mrs.

Mildred Lauderdale. The daughter of Mrs. Amye Southward of Tishomingo, Miss., Nita became the bride of George Gilpin, the son of Mr. and Mrs. R.H. Gilpin of Hattiesburg, Miss.

Some 70 relatives and close friends witnessed the double ring ceremony conducted by the bride's brother, The Rev. James C. Southward of Belleville, who also sang "The Wedding Prayer" with organ accompaniment by his wife, Rosalie, who sang "You Light Up My Life."

Given in marriage by her uncle, Grady Taylor of Belmont, Miss., the bride appeared in a toe-touching gown of white silk over satin. Her floor-length veil of bridal illusion was caught to a little head band and completing her wedding finery was a bouquet of yellow daisies, white carnations and baby's breath.

Mrs. James (Shirley) Hodge traveled from Belleville to serve as her sister's only attendant. She wore a long peach gown, matching flowers in her hair and carried a nosegay of peach carnations, daisies and baby's breath.

The bridegroom chose his father, R.H. Gilpin, to serve as best man. Ushers were two cousins of the bride, Gary Taylor of Belmont, Miss. and Ralph Lauderdale of Boonesville, Miss.

The newlyweds traveled through the Smoky Mountains on their week-long honeymoon and are now making their home in Gatlinburg, Tenn. where he is employed by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

The new Mrs. Gilpin attended Belleville schools through the seventh grade before moving to Mississippi. She holds an associate of arts degree in medical assistance from Northeast Mississippi Junior College where she was affiliated with Phi Theta Kappa Honor Society. She also attended the University of Mississippi as a business education major.

Her husband graduated in 1973 from the University of Southern Mississippi where he earned a bachelor of science degree in parks and resource management.

Walnut spice torte

Walnut Spice Torte, "fancied-up" with a frosting of thawed frozen whipped topping and a filling of whipped topping and applesauce, is just right for September's stepped-up social pace. Or how about surprising the family and bringing out this very special dessert some night when left-overs are on the menu. What a perker-upper! (Photo courtesy Birds Eye Cool Whip non-dairy whipped topping.)

For your recipe file

A September fancy — torte

Summer is fast fading and it's time to turn your thoughts to school, socials and sumptuous desserts. Walnut Spice Torte, "fancied-up" with delectable thawed frozen whipped topping as a frosting, is memorable yet surprisingly easy to prepare.

Birds Eye Cool Whip non-dairy whipped topping, blended with applesauce, creates a subtle, spicy filling for the cake layers and transforms ordinary spice cake into an elegant torte.

Years ago, a cake like this would have taken hours of preparation and considerable cleanup time. The simplicity of this recipe, plus the convenience of ready-to-use whipped topping and on-hand ingredients, reflects today's life-style. Even those doubly busy homemakers who put in a full day at the office will rejoice at this recipe.

Make the cake early in the week — or even the night before — and pop into the freezer for safe-keeping. Then when you're ready for company, defrost the cake at room temperature and prepare the filling and frosting in just minutes. Fancy that!

Walnut Spice Torte

1 package (2-layer size) spice cake mix
1 cup fine graham cracker crumbs
1 container (9-oz.) frozen whipped topping, thawed
1 cup applesauce
1/2 cup finely chopped walnuts

Prepare cake mix as directed on package, adding graham cracker crumbs to mix before heating and baking in two 9-inch layer pans. Split cooled layers to form 4 thin layers. Combine 1 cup of the whipped topping and the applesauce. Spread about 1/2 cup applesauce mixture on each of three layers and stack; top with fourth layer. Frost sides and top with remaining whipped topping. Sprinkle with walnuts. Chill 1 hour. Store any remaining cake in refrigerator.

MISS NOEYACK

Around town

By LEE SMITH

Grandson baptized in Lexington, Ky.

The christening of their grandson, Charles Matthew Webster, who was 2½-months-old at the time, prompted the trip southward which Irv and Louise Czajkowski returned from just recently.

Along with two of their daughters, Cathy and Carol; Louise's mother, Mary Harvey of Belleville, and her aunt, Angeline Barber of Petersburg, the Czajkowskis traveled via motor home to Somerset, Ky. on the first lap of their journey.

Irv and Louise became grandparents on June 17 when their daughter, Claudia, and her husband, Chuck, welcomed an eight-pound, 10-ounce son at Central Baptist Hospital in Lexington, Ky.

The infant received the sacrament of baptism at Christ the Good Shepherd Church in Lexington with Curt Czajkowski of Belleville and Connie Cameron of Perryburg, Ohio serving as God-parents.

The Websters later entertained the group and several other friends and relatives at a dinner in their home.

On leaving Kentucky, the entourage headed for Bogalusa, La. for a 2-day visit with Irv's sister, Jan, and her husband, Dr. Ray Starner. They also toured the famous French Quarter in New Orleans before driving onto Sarasota for another two days with relatives, this time Irv's dad and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Czajkowski.

And, on heading home, there was one more short visit with that precious new baby who's already been dubbed "Charley" by his bevy of aunts, Cathy, Cindy, Cherie and Carol.

Back from the South

Another group returning from a Southern vacation were the Pences — Art, Imogene and Jill — who spent three weeks away from the usual daily grind. Opryland and the Grand Ol' Opry in Nashville were highlights of their trip as was the visit in Charleston, S.C. with their daughter, Paula Owen, and her 5-month-old daughter, Andrea.

Their son-in-law, Kirk, who's off on submarine patrol somewhere near Spain, will be given leave sometime near the end of the month when the Pences and the G.W. Owens are expecting the trio "home".

In North Carolina, Imogene says, they finally bought their "dream cottage" — a little place in the mountains near Saluda and the Great Smokies — where they hope to spend their retirement years.

Bridal luncheon held

With their niece, Kathy Duvall, in for only a week-end recently, her aunts planned a bridal shower luncheon in her honor the day after her arrival in Romulus. Kathy, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. K.E. Wells, and her parents moved from the area some five years back and now reside in Glen Ellyn, Ill. She and her mother arrived at Detroit Metro Airport Friday afternoon.

Relatives from Monroe, Cass City, Okemos, Rochester, Wayne, Romulus, Redford and Saline arrived for the noon party which was held on the patio of Mrs. Florence Smith's home on Wayne Road. Co-hostesses were two other aunts, Mrs. Dorothy Myers of Plymouth and Mrs. Lenore Griggs of Canton.

Plates of fruit salad and tiny nut bread sandwiches were served by cousins of the honoree, Diane and Patti Myers and Kerry and Sheri Griggs. Table appointments were done in lavender, pink and white, Kathy's wedding colors, with small bouquets of bachelor buttons on each table.

The 35 guests later watched the gift presentation which included a favorite recipe from each guest. Prizes were awarded according to the wrappings on packages with Mrs. Grace Essex of Okemos, Mrs. Mary Novaceck of Monroe, Mrs. Caroline Billings of Redford and Annette Horn of Cass City taking home awards.

Kathy is to be married Oct. 21 at the Baptist Church in Glen Ellyn.

Music Hall's concert lineup includes jazz

"A Touch of Jazz" comes to Detroit's historic Music Hall Center this fall with a Keyboard Series and a Great Bands Series of five concerts each. Many of the nation's top musical artists are included in these shows, which run from October to May.

Pianist Dave Brubeck kicks off the Keyboard Series on Oct. 13, along with his three talented sons who together comprise The New Brubeck Quartet. They will perform an additional concert on Oct. 14.

This diverse program offers the unique touch of Marian McPartland on Nov. 12, the excitement of the Bill Evans Trio with special guest dancer Carmen de la Vallade on Dec. 5, and the mastery of Oscar Peterson Jan. 28.

The series ends with the world's premiere champion of Bach, organist Virgil Fox. On March 7, Fox joins forces with light show wizard David Synder for a multimedia experience that's a guaranteed crowd-pleaser.

The Great Bands Series begins on Jan. 21 with the incomparable Buddy Rich Band, featuring Steve Marcus on tenor sax. Maynard Ferguson and his Orchestra appear on Feb. 18, followed by the Preservation Hall Jazz Band from New Orleans on March 4.

The final concerts in the Great Bands Series provide double the pleasure, with each band offering two talented leaders. On April 15, the Thad Jones-Mel Lewis Orchestra demonstrates the skills of its star horn player and drummer, and on May 16, the highly-praised Akiyoshi-Tabackin Big Band arrives with the dazzling piano technique of Toshiko Akiyoshi and the virtuoso sounds of her husband Lew Tabackin on saxophone and flute.

In addition, some concerts in each series will feature top Michigan musicians making guest appearances with the visiting star.

If Tisch amendment passes

Method helps in figuring who will save

Who will save money and who won't if the Tisch amendment becomes law? This is the question, and Dr. Al House, a specialist in agricultural economy at Michigan State University, has a simple method for figuring out whether or not your pocketbook will benefit by the passage of the proposal.

To figure out whether you would save money on your property taxes, if the proposal passes, you must first determine what you're paying now.

Computing what you now pay under the current property tax system requires some very simple arithmetic. Multiply your total household income for the year by .035. Subtract the product from the total dollar amount of your property tax. Multiply the remainder by .60. Subtract the product from the total dollar amount of your property tax. The remainder shows what you really pay in net property tax, considering the credit on your income tax.

For example (if you are under 65):

Your household income	$20,000
Times the tax adjustment rate	x .035
Equals your income adjustment factor	$700
Your total property tax	$1,100
Less the income adjustment factor	-$700
Equals the excess of property tax over factor	$400
Times the general formula credit rate	x .60
Equals what you may deduct from your income tax	$240
Total property tax	$1,100
Less property tax credit	-$240
Equals the net property tax after income tax credit	$860

On the other hand, if the Tisch amendment passes, for most people in most years, there will be little or no homestead property tax credit on state income tax. Instead, your property tax (for current operation budgets) will be cut approximately in half immediately. In other words, the total property tax of $1,100, as shown in the example above, would be reduced to about $660 in a typical community. (Additional property tax assessments for debt in your community would not be cut — such as debt for public buildings and improvements).

But what happens to local governments (cities, counties, townships, etc.) who rely on property tax revenue — usually for about 50 percent or more of their funds? According to House, the state would be obliged to help make up that loss. Additional taxes would need to be assessed to make up the difference.

House predicts that an increase of 1 percent in the state personal income tax will be one of the first steps taken. In addition, electors in local school districts will be asked to vote on the question of a local school income tax of up to 1 percent. Cities, which now have no income tax, will consider a 1 percent income tax to help make up lost revenues.

Property owners and everyone else subject to income taxes will pay higher income taxes. How much would those income tax increases add up to? The hypothetical family with a $20,000 income probably would pay an additional $155 (based on three dependents) for the increase in state income tax, and would pay $155 for the increase in local income tax. Those increases plus the $660 in property taxes, bring the total up to $970. This family would save nothing as a result of the proposal. It would cost them more to shift from property taxes to higher income taxes, House said.

Assuming lost revenues would be replaced by other taxes, whether or not you would save money by the Tisch plan depends upon your household income and property tax.

Generally, upper middle to high income persons would pay more total tax under the Tisch amendment if a higher personal income tax were substituted for lost property tax revenues.

If you are 65 or older, you already receive a generous tax saving under the present tax system through the homestead tax credit. Therefore, senior citizens would tend to gain little from the Tisch property tax cut, according to House.

Those who would save tax dollars, if the amendment passes are low-income homeowners under 65 and owners of valuable land (such as farmers and income property owners). Certain businesses paying high property taxes also could save a large amount.

An increase in state and local income tax will help, but it won't be enough to totally compensate local governments for the loss of property tax revenues, according to House. Therefore, a lower property tax probably will mean loss of services in communities that do not replace lost property tax revenues, he said.

"Before pulling the lever in November, voters should carefully weight effects of the Tisch proposal on public services. Will you really be satisfied with a lower level of public services?" House asked.

Services which rely heavily on property tax revenue for their operating costs include local police departments, county clerk's office, prosecutor's office, circuit courts, public property maintenance, street cleaning services, solid waste removal, libraries and arts programs.

"Passage of the Tisch amendment would affect communities differently because some rely more heavily than others on property tax revenue. The more local governments rely on that revenue, the more they'll have to cut back on community services or find ways to replace lost revenues," he explained.

The state has other tax options, including raising the single business tax. However, House says that raising the single business tax (essentially a tax on the privilege of doing business in Michigan) would be difficult without first rewriting the single business tax law. As the law stands now, business would save property tax money through the Tisch amendment, but that saving would be eliminated, if the single business tax were increased enough to recover property tax revenues lost.

County appeals ruling

Members of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners have voted to ask the Michigan Supreme Court to overturn an arbitrator's award for Sheriff's deputies because the cost would force the layoff of some 900 other employees.

Wage and fringe benefit improvements provided by the award would cost the financially strapped county $2,470,700 this year and another $3,849,300 next year for a total of $6,320,000. The county already faces a budget deficit of up to $12 million.

County commissioners who voted to fight the award said the cost would require the immediate layoff of some 600 regular county employees and 300 federally-subsidized CETA workers. The layoffs would "clobber essential services."

Contract improvements awarded by the arbitrator include:

benefits for active and retired deputies.

Increased mileage for use of personal cars on business.

Removal of the ceiling on cost-of-living allowances.

More generous payments for accumulated sick leave.

Use of 25 percent of the county's computer time for the processing of grievances.

Automatic promotions from patrolman to corporal and from detective to senior detective after five years.

Retention of the controversial "staffing" clause which prohibits the county from reducing the number of deputies assigned to any given function.

The arbitration award applies to some 650 members of Local 502 of the National Union of Police Officers (NUPO).

Commissioners said one reason they voted to challenge the award is that the "equal compensation for equal work" concept could mean the costly contract improvements would be applied to all 5,600 union county employees.

Commissioners voted by voice vote to challenge the award after hearing reports from their fiscal advisor, County attorneys and the County Retirement Board.

"We're not going to roll over and simply open the county treasury to unreasonable demands," one commissioner declared.

One charged that the staffing clause amounted to "featherbedding."

They said the threat of some 900 immediate layoffs was posed by an order handed down by Wayne County Circuit Judge Thomas Roumell at the union's request. Roumell ordered that the new pay rate and various other items be paid in paychecks to be issued Friday.

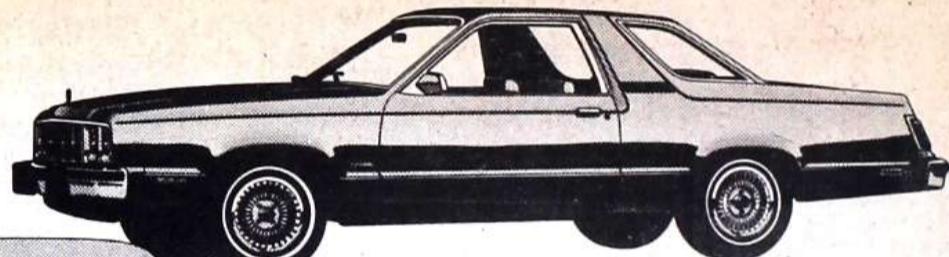

CETA workers would be affected because of a requirement that all CETA trainees in any job classification be laid off before any permanent employee in that classification.

Judge Roumell will be asked to grant a stay of his order pending settlement of the appeal, said County Corporation Counsel Aloysius J. Suchy. Because it is "an urgent public question," the State Supreme Court will be asked to consider the appeal directly, bypassing the Court of Appeals, Suchy added.

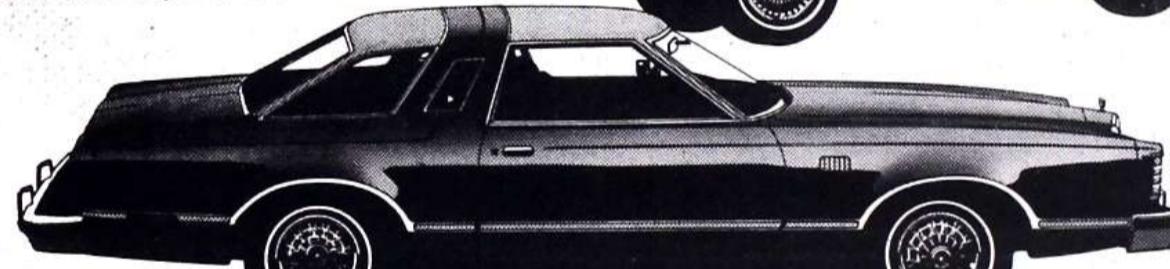

The county commissioners also tentatively authorized the expenditure of up to $10,000 to allow Suchy to enlist outside lawyers and witnesses who are expert in labor law.

The Garden

Doctor says...

This week the Garden Doctor talks about:
Q: Our pumpkins are turning orange. Should we pick them now if we want them for Halloween use?

A: Don't pick them until they have had more exposure to cool temperatures. This will further harden them. When they are picked, cut the stem so a couple inches of it remains on the pumpkin. For long term storage keep them at 80 to 85 degrees for 10 days, then at 55 to 60 degrees only until Halloween. They can be left in the garden until temperatures below 31 degrees threaten. Pick and keep in a cool place until "Pumpkin Night".

Q: How will we know when our pears are ready to pick?

A: Most pear varieties, including Bartlett, should be picked while they are still firm and before marked ripening occurs.

Pears left to ripen on the tree are of poor quality since they often develop grit cells and discoloration. The proper maturity for picking may be determined by a change in fruit ground color from a dark green to light green or yellowish green, ease of fruit stem separation from the spur with an upward twist of the fruit, and decrease in fruit firmness.

Pears are then ripened indoors. They will ripen in a few days if held at 60 to 70 degrees with high relative humidity. Long-term storage before ripening should be at 30 to 32 degrees and at 90 percent relative humidity.

Q: My garden soil is a heavy clay. I heard that "green manure" is a good way to improve it. How would I use it?

A: "Green manure" refers to vegetation that is plowed under for the purpose of soil improvement. The green manure crop, usually rye, is sowed in the fall and is then plowed under next spring.

Birds to be studied

Registration is required, as are vehicle entry permits.

YWCA sponsors 'His, hers, theirs'

The special problems confronting second marriage families will be discussed in a new course, "His, Hers and Theirs", offered by the YWCA of Western Wayne County.

Geared for individuals who have remarried and brought children of a previous marriage to a newly created "blended family", the course will cover such topics as "Will we be another 'Brady Bunch'", fighting favoritism and fantasies, getting it together as a couple, advantages of a blended family, what's normal and whatever happened to the wicked step-parent.

The course also is designed for individuals considering remarriage, since it will deal with realistic and unrealistic expectations of problems a "blending family" might encounter.

Gracey Miller, school social worker for the Wayne County Intermediate School District and of the Academy of Certified Social Workers, will instruct the six-week course, which begins Sept. 25.

The course will meet from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. at the YWCA Building, 262729 Michigan Avenue, Inkster.

Registration for the course is being accepted through Sept. 22. Fees are $14 per person, or $20 per couple.

IS YOUR HOME WINTER READY?

Sample Michigan products through its industrial tours

Note: "Industrial Tours" is the last in a series of 15 weekly articles on "Offbeat Michigan." These features are designed to encourage Michigan tourism and nearhome travel.

Take an industrial tour to see how automobiles, wooden shoes and red flannel underwear are made or to get a free sample of Michigan-made products ranging from beer and wine to baby food and vitamins.

To tour an auto plant, contact Ford Motor Co. in Dearborn (313-322-0034) or General Motors' Detroit office (313-556-4444), but be advised that most of these tours are suspended during model changeover.

Holland, America's Dutch capital, is the site of two wooden shoe manufacturers, offering tour to the public, DeKlomp Wooden Shoe and Delft Factory (616-396-2292) and the Wooden Shoe Factory (616-396-6513). DeKlomp bills itself as "the only Delftware factory in the nation."

The whir of sewing machines can be heard at the Red Flannel Factory in Cedar Springs (616-696-9240) as visitors watch pajamas, long johns and other fire engine red apparel being whipped into shape.

Adults who tour the Carling Brewery in Frankenmuth (517-652-6161, ext. 42) or the Stroh Brewery in Detroit (313-961-5840) are invited to sample the suds that come from big copper brewing kettles. You'll have to settle for just a sample because there are no beer sales on the premises.

Head for the vineyards of Michigan's wine country for a round of wine-tasting that is free to adult visitors. Unlike at the breweries, wine, champagne and sherry are sold by the bottle or case from the shelves which line the walls of the tasting room.

Wineries offering free samples along with tours include Lakeside Winery, near Harbert (616-469-0700), where tasting is done in an outdoor wine garden; Tabor Hill Vineyards, near Buchanan (616-422-1161); Bronte Winery, near Hartford (616-621-3419) and Fenn Valley

Vineyards, near Fennville (616-521-2396).

Three of the wineries are in the Paw Paw area. They are Warner Vineyards (616-657-3165), St. Julian Wine Co. (616-657-5568), which boasts a hospitality room with chandeliers made from a 100-year-old wine press, and Frontenac Vineyards (616-657-5531).

At the 77-year-old Gerber Products Co. in Fremont, visitors are given a cup of juice and free package of the baby food the firm has produced for the past half-century. Tours start at the brand new visitor's center (616-928-2614).

A free sample of vitamins goes to adults who tour the Upjohn Co. pharmaceuticals plant in Kalamazoo (616-323-5866).

Kellogg Co. in Battle Creek (616-966-2000) gives a gift package of its cereals to all visitors, and a sample of Jiffy muffin, biscuit and pie crust mixes awaits those who tour the Chelsea Milling Co. in Chelsea (313-475-1361).

Picnic fare - hot dogs and potato chips — is the free bonus given anyone touring the Peter Eckrich & Sons plant in Quincy (517-869-2221, ext. 34) and the Made-Rite Potato Chip factory in Bay City (517-684-6271).

The manufacture of paper products is demonstrated on tours of the Brown Co. in Kalamazoo (616-383-5071) and the S.D. Warren Co. in Muskegon (616-755-3761, ext. 261). A related product, wall paneling, is produced by Abitibi in Alpena (517-354-2121), which also offers tours.

At another Alpena factory, Besser Co. (517-354-4111), the manufacture of concrete block machinery is demonstrated.

Cook Nuclear Center near Bridgeman (616-465-6101) entertains visitors with lectures, films and exhibits on nuclear energy. A featured attraction is a tiny working television set fashioned into a wristwatch. The center overlooks Lake Michigan, and there is a snack bar with an outdoor patio, where visitors can relax while ship-watching.

Everything goes right for Glenn at GC West

Rockets bury Garden City, 47-0, await Northville

If the rest of the season goes as well for easygoing Chuck Gordon as it did Friday night at Garden City West, he'll have nothing to worry about.

Gordon's Rockets at Westland John Glenn looked indestructible as they overpowered their hosts 47-0 in the season's opener for both teams.

The denouement in the opening night drama came early as Glenn jumped on the shakey Tigers for two touchdowns in the first quarter and built up a 34-0 halftime lead to coast to an easy victory.

Is Glenn that strong or Garden City that weak? was the question that Gordon has to ponder as he prepares his Rockets for their home opener against a very capable Northville squad.

"I really can't say what it was," Gordon commented later, "but I can say that it's great to win and whenever you hold a team to totals like minus seven rushing and minus 33 passing, it's not just one or two guys doing their jobs, but the entire squad."

Gordon however did express concern over "a lack of consistency at times, which could jeopardize our game against teams in the future.

"We got some toughies on our schedule, in fact, I can't see another team that we won't have a hard battle against, so we're going to have to iron out the problems we had against West."

If there were any Glenn weaknesses, West didn't see or find them. The Tigers were pinned deep in their territory from the start while Rocket quarterback Rob Suida unveiled what could be one of the more potent Glenn offenses.

Suida got his team on the scoreboard early in the first quarter when he capped a short drive with a sneak into the end zone after West had turned the ball over.

Then Kal Deluca proceeded to kick his first of five point-afters, missing only once.

Andy Pucci scooped up a blocked punt and ran it back 35 yards for the Rockets' second score in the first quarter.

Tailback Tim Ruark scored his first TD of the 1978 season early in the third period, crashing over the goal line from four yards out to polish off a midfield drive.

Then, after the ensuing kickoff, Dale Luke joined the fun as he picked off pitchout and galloped 40-yards for a touchdown.

The defense continued to stay in the scoring act thanks to Kurt Hagemann who ran back a punt return for 65-yards for the Rockets' fifth TD and Glenn's sixth score went to fullback Jim Hendrian who dashed over from three-yards out.

Pucci collected his second touchdown of the evening when he stole a pass and meandered 45-yards to Suia didn't have much of an opportunity to show off his pinpoint passing because the rushing game was going so well. He handed off to Ruark 13 times and the speedy back picked up 75 yards while Hendrian cashed in nine rushes for 55 yards.

Northville is coming off of a 14-0 defeat at the hands of Glenn's old league rival, Redford Thurston. And Gordon is approaching the pending nonleague confrontation with caution.

"I hate playing people who are coming off of a loss," he said. "We have to be ready for them."

Belleville is no match for Wayne

The Sports Meridian

Gouin going to Canton

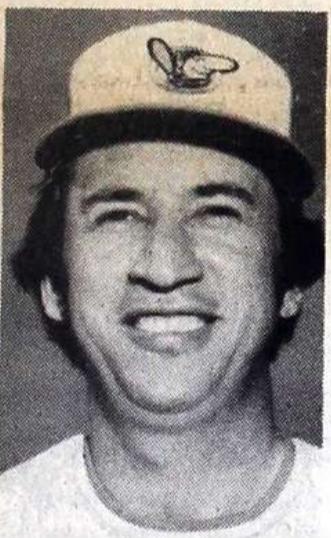

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

The City of Wayne's loss is Canton Township's gain.

Canton has solved its parks and recreation problems by hiring Mike Gouin, who helped build Wayne's recreation program into one of the best in the state.

"I'm really looking forward to the new challenge," said the 35-year-old personable Gouin who is considered one of the best slo-pitch ball players in the world. In fact, in 1970, Mike was voted the Most Valuable Player at the World Softball Tournament.

Gouin has been a member of the Wayne Recreation staff as a recreation coordinator during the pre-Community Center days. Those days were "prehistoric" as compared to what the Wayne residents enjoy now in the form of recreation and the programs offered.

MIKE GOuin

When the American Professional Slo-Pitch League was formed two years ago, Gouin became a member of Detroit Caesar's, the No.1 professional slo-pitch team in the country. Detroit Caesar's only recently successfully defended its "World Series" title.

Mike's credentials are impeccable.

His accomplishments have been recognized in the state as he has been a member of the Michigan Parks and Recreation board of directors for four years, serving a term as president during his tenure on the board. He also served as chairman of the National Players and Managers' Advisory Committee of the Amateur Softball Association and has been chairman of the State Athletic Committee for two years.

Married to Doris Ann, the Gouins have two girls - Lori, 11, and Sheri, 8.

But there is something that puzzles us - how in heck did the City of Wayne let such a class person escape from its lair?

From the mail bag...

And, before we call it a week, let's get the mail out of the way before the postal strike is on:

Dear Mr. Mooradian,

I would like to thank you for the article you wrote in today's paper, concerning the memorial race to honor my son, Steve Foster.

It was so very well written and said and I will cherish the article.

Finding words to express my gratitude in this period of grief is very difficult, but please let me say, "thank you" - it seems so inadequate. I greatly appreciated your concern.

Respectfully,

Mrs. Rachel Foster.

'Hot pursuit'

With two Belleville defenders - Bob Sayre(56) and Dave Stamper(52) zeroing in, Wayne Memorial's senior tailback Ed Turbeville(41) heads for Tiger territory during Friday night's sizzling prep grid debut. Turbeville contributed an 89-yard touchdown run in Wayne's 33-6 victory over their nonleague rivals. Both teams are scheduled to open their respective conference campaigns Friday night. Coach Pat Stokes' Tigers will travel to Trenton, a pre-season favorite to unseat Plymouth Salem in the first quarter and went on to beat their nonleague rivals 33-6 before a partisan crowd estimated at 3,000.

Zebras score easy win

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

Taking its cue from the weather, Wayne Memorial unleashed a sizzling offense that was too hot for Belleville's defense to handle.

With the temperatures ranging from 85 to 90 degrees in the trenches, Wayne struck for three touchdowns in the first quarter and went on to beat their nonleague rivals 33-6 before a partisan crowd estimated at 3,000.

It was the hottest opener, temperature-wise, for both teams and it must have seemed even hotter for the visitors as Wayne's offense punished the Tiger defense relentlessly throughout most of the game.

It was the first time in recent years that Wayne had won by such a wide margin. The last two encounters were decided in Wayne's favor only after an overtime period.

"I was pleased with our offense," said Wayne Coach Floyd Carter, "but there were obvious lapses in the defense that need our immediate attention.

Belleville's Pat Stokes said he was disappointed with his team's performance, especially in the second half.

Asked if the heat posed any problems, Stokes replied: "It was hot for both teams," and went on to add, "that we had eight players running both ways and it could have caused some problems."

Wayne scored in its first series of plays after Belleville failed to move the ball and gave it up via a punt. Wayne senior quarterback, Mark Korte, using his speedy backs, Mike Wilson and Ed Turberville, moved the Zebras to the 15-yard line where he scored on an option play.

Skip Walker then booted the extra point.

Brian Brinkerhoff then jolted Wayne's kickoff return team by grabbing the ensuing kick and racing back 94 yards for a touchdown. But the Tigers failed to tie the score as Dave Stamper missed on the conversion attempt.

Wayne widened its margin just before the end of the quarter when Mark Zerone broke through the Tiger defenses and blocked a punt. He scampered back 48 yards for a touchdown, but Walker's second extra point attempt missed its mark and when the quarter was up, Wayne had a 13-6 edge.

Midway in the second quarter, Mike Wilson scored on nine yard run which came after a sustained drive. Walker missed the extra point try and when the halftime whistle sounded, the Zebras had a 20-6 lead.

Neither team managed to get on the scoreboard in the third quarter but Wilson had one touchdown called back, a run of 43-yards, because of a holding infraction. However, the Zebras continued the drive and early in the fourth period Korte used the

Salem starts strong, beats Franklin, 28-19

The TD was set up by a 47-yard pass-run play from Wilson to Tim Przysecki. Don Boka kicked the extra point.

Salem capitalized on a Pat miscue after failing to pick up yardage in the next series. The Rocks were forced to punt and recovered a fumble on the Franklin 37-yard line.

Five plays later Stack scored his second six-pointer of the hot evening.

The Rocks retreated to the lockerrooms with a 14-7 half-time cushion and inflated the score in the third period. Salem kicked off to Franklin to start the half and Boka took over the quarterbacking and connected on a 21 yard pass to Przysecki, moving the Pats to midfield.

Salem's Rich Hewlett had a lot of options Friday night and they didn't figure in Livonia Franklin's game plan.

Hewlett, an all-state quarterback a year ago, worked the option almost perfectly to key the Rocks' 28-19 victory over Franklin.

"He's just a tremendous quarterback," said Franklin veritable coach Armand Vigna. "His last minute pitches destroyed us."

Vigna explained that Hewlett would lead his halfbacks in the direction of the triple option and the halfbacks were blocking out Franklin's containment and that helped break the pitcher loose.

"Rich was perfect at it Friday night and I saw a real fine ball club in Salem," he added.

Salem's Tom Moshimer said he was pleased with his team's first effort, "but there is a lot for us to work on. I was however surprised at the way we dominated most of the game."

Salem scored after an exchange of punts midway in the first quarter as Hewlett engineered a 64-yard drive in five plays with Craig Stack going the last 22 on an option. The Rocks got the extra point thanks to Greg Hanschke who made all four of them.

Franklin tied the score at 7-7, again after exchanging punts. The Patriots drove 56 yards with John Wilson at the throttle and fast-moving Jerry Cifor going over the Salem goal line from 8 yards out.

"We have the front line this year but our depth is questionable,"

Oakley sets CC record

Despite the punishing heat, Belleville's Bob Oakley set a school record in the opening meet of the season. But Oakley's record-establishing performance wasn't enough as Coach Dave Medley's Tigers fell to Adrian, 24-31.

Oakley toured the 3-mile Belleville course in 15:55, eclipsing Randy Block's old mark of 16 minutes. The Tiger runner had to settle for second place as Adrian's Jim Miller set a course record when he finished first with a time of 15:50.

"We have the front line this year but our depth is questionable," commented Medley whose 1977 team earned a 11-1 record in dual meet competition. "We have a decent crop of seniors and a bunch of sophomores, but there just isn't enough of them."

Belleville also had the third best runner against Adrian as Darryl Thompson hit the finish line in 16:23. Gary Roach was seventh, Joe Wojtowicz was ninth and Tim Barrera finished 10th.

Belleville finished behind Edsel Ford in the race for the Suburban 8 Conference championship and Medley sees Edsel as the team to beat again.

Huron fell further behind when Keller and Barnes teamed up on a 50-yard pass-run TD play.

Pichan came back and got the Chiefs on the board as he capped a sustained drive with an aerial to tight end Bruce Wood, good for 10-yards and six-points.

But Milan sealed Huron's fate on another "bomb" as Keller picked on the Chiefs' secondary, this time hooking up with Belmore on a 71-yard scoring pass.

Bruce Smith tallied for Huron on a 3-yard plunge which also culminated a drive for the Chiefs final score, Pichan made good on the point after, but the Chiefs failed to make up the difference.

Huron, for what its worth, had the edge in statistics. The Chiefs had 20 first downs to Milan's nine and rushed for 273 as compared to 34. However, Milan amassed 230 yards from its passing attack while Pichan had 128.

Secondary breaks down, Huron bows 26-21

The cliche that the game is won on defense was never more apparent Friday in New Boston Huron's 26-21 setback at the hands of nonleague rival, Milan.

Wasting a sterling performance by senior quarterback Randy Pichan who hit on 10 of 23 passes for 128 yards and also picked up 97 yards rushing on 13 carries, Coach Tom LaBeau's Chiefs failed to stop Milan's missiles, consequently, dropped their nonleague opener.

"I felt we played well with the exception of our secondary," said LaBeau whose troops meet Tecumseh Friday night for their conference opener. "We broke down in the secondary and all of Milan's scores were off of long passes with one exception - a kickoff return."

Whether Huron has the horses to run for the conference championship may be determined by the outcome of the Tecumseh game. Tecumseh is the defending champ and is one of the pre-season title favorites.

However, the champs are coming off of a 7-6 nonleague opening night loss to Chelsea, but LaBeau cautioned that "they are always a good football team and are still the champs until proven otherwise."

Huron drew first blood against Milan as Dave Stephenson made it around end and scampered 68-yards for a touchdown and after Pichan kicked the extra point, the Chiefs briefly enjoyed a 7-0 lead.

That lead disappeared with the ensuing kickoff as Steve Barnes burned the Chiefs with an 85-yard return into the end zone. Milan however failed to make the extra point.

Late in the second period Milan took command on a scoring pass from quarterback Tim Keller to Bob Belmore which covered 24-yards. They chose to go for the two-point conversion this time and failed.

Trailing 12-7 at intermission,

One-on-one

With Wayne Memorial's Ted Salvadori(40) offering the resistance, and Ray Lanczki(in background) closing in, Belleville's Brian Brinkerhoff(24) is preparing for an encounter of a bruising kind. Brinkerhoff provided the Tiger fans with one of their more pleasurable moments in Friday night's opener as he grabbed a kickoff and ran it back 93-yards for a touchdown, the lone Tiger score in a 33-6 nonleague setback.

Like the shot fired at Concord, Livonia Churchill's 14-12 victory over what was considered an indestructible East Lansing grid machine shook the state.

East Lansing, which hadn't lost a single game during the regular season for the past two years, bowed to Coach Ken Kaestner's Chargers Friday night and that triumph has raised a lot of eyebrows.

"I have to put this win in the category of one of our greatest victories," said Kaestner who has an equally tough assignment Friday night when Ann Arbor Huron comes to town. "In my pre-season discussions I have labeled these kids one of the greatest bunch I have coached and, believe me, these kids won't let anyone down."

"They'll give you 100 percent all the time and what else can one ask from anyone?"

After a scoreless first half, Churchill drew first blood early in the third quarter when quarterback Rick Coppola strung together a 65-yard drive. At the three, Coppola handed off to Dorian Mason who ripped through the East Lansing defenders for the touchdown.

Coppola then chose to go for the two point conversion and singled out Steve Zaborowski for an aerial that found its mark.

One of the key plays in that sustained drive was another pass from Coppola to Zaborowski which covered 19 yards on a third down and nine situation.

East Lansing didn't take the Churchill TD sitting down. They marched after the ensuing kickoff and scored in seven plays with rugged Dave Underwood covering the last 45 yards of dirt.

East Lansing also elected to go for two but a holding penalty moved them back and when they got their chance, Churchill's Rick Grodak and Glenn Cahoon sneaked in and sacked the quarterback.

East Lansing got the next break as well as they picked off a Coppola pass after the kick-off and had possession of the ball on the Charger 30. But Churchill's defense stood its ground and Cahoon and Grodak again came up with a key play when they floored the quarterback at the ending a threat and forcing their visitors to punt.

The errant ball sailed over the kicker's head and when it stopped rolling, East Lansing was back on its own 18 yard line.

On the first play Mason sustained a mild concussion and was replaced by Kevin O'Rourke who was the catalyst for the final Churchill TD drive. He picked up 11 of the 18 yards and when the Chargers got to the one, Coppola took it over on a quarterback sneak.

Churchill failed to convert and East Lansing got the ball back via the kickoff which was misplayed and wound up on the visitors' 10-yard line.

With four minutes left, Churchill appeared to have the game all sewed up. That wasn't so. East Lansing rammed right through the Churchill defenders and marched 90-yards and scored with 24-seconds left on a pass from Steve Foote to Jay Harris.

With the score 14-12, it was obvious that East Lansing had to go for two to tie it up and force the issue into an overtime, but they didn't get that opportunity as Cahoon, who made two defensive gems previously, came up with a game-saving block of Foote's attempted pass.

East Lansing tried an onside kick and Churchill's Mark Przybylski recovered the ball and the Chargers then ran the time out.

East Lansing, for all it was worth, dominated the statistics. The losers had 270 yards total, of which 228 was off of their rushing game, while Churchill compiled 196 yards total and 59 from its passing. The Livonians had the edge in first downs 10-6.

Mason, who is expected back in the lineup for Friday's game, rushed for 76 yards in 16 carries while Coppola was five of 12 passing.

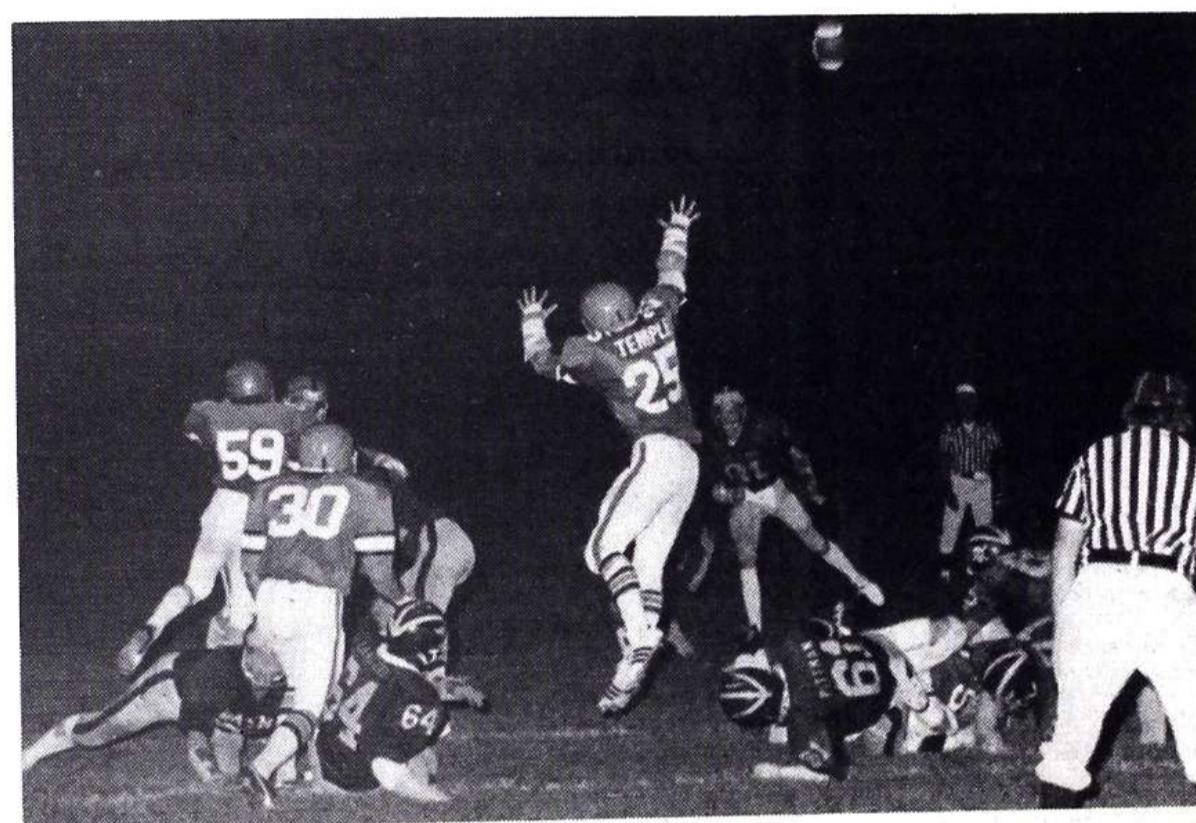

"East Lansing was big - it was like a Goliath vs. David match," said Kaestner, "their line outweighed ours by about 20 pounds per man."

Salem beats Franklin

76 yards and Cifor polished off the final three after Boka made good on a pair of passes - one for 12 yards to Tony Manzo and another for 27 yards to Steve Wright who made a diving catch.

Stack picked up 119 of the Rocks' 287 yards rushing and Kappler had 61.

While Salem begins the defense of its Suburban 8 Conference title Saturday night at 7:30 p.m. against Dearborn, Franklin will be at home Saturday afternoon at 2:00 p.m., taking on an always ready city rival, Stevenson.

Airborne

It was a rare sight, indeed, when Wayne Memorial was forced to punt against Belleville Friday night, but in this case Wayne wanted to put some dirt between it and its goal line and Belleville's Blair Temple(25) puts on the rush in hopes of blocking the kick. Wayne scored in its first series of plays after the initial kick-off and went on to beat their visitors 33-6 before estimated 3,000 fans.

Belleville driver places second at Flat Rock

John Briggs of Ypsilanti, Michigan made a daring and exciting move at the intersection of the Figure 8 course and defeated his brother Ed by a fender to win the 25 lap Figure 8 Season Championship race Saturday night at Flat Rock Speedway.

Both had to slow down a little for a slow car at the intersection, but John stood on the gas, narrowly missing the car, but taking the victory, his first this year.

Brother Ed of Belleville, Michigan was second, Drury Ramsey of Detroit third, Chuck Hall of Toledo, Ohio fourth, and Bob Studd of Dearborn Heights, Michigan was fifth.

Cherry Hill is off to best start

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

With the aura of a championship in the air, Cherry Hill erupted for 24 points in the second quarter to bury Dearborn Heights Annapolis 31-0 and serve notice that it is serious about the Tri-River Conference football title.

Showing off a dazzling offense, Coach Jerry Pawloski's Spartans blitzed the Dearborn Heights' visitors who last year blanked their nonleague rivals, 6-0.

"This is certainly the best start in the 12 years I've been around here," noted Pawloski who had seen the abyss of the conference the first two years on job as head coach, then soar to second place last year.

"And the 385 yards we compiled on offense has to be a school record," Pawloski added.

Pawloski and his Spartans will open up the 1978 conference campaign on Saturday when Southgate visits Cherry Hill. Southgate dropped its nonleague opener to a highly-touted Dearborn contingent 15-0.

Though Southgate's coaching staff has full knowledge that the Spartan secondary made up of Tom Minor, Randy Frederick, Darnell Green and Floyd Simmons is probably one of the best in the league, Pawloski expects to see the Sabers "going to the air."

"They like to throw," said Pawloski, commenting on Southgate's strategy. "About 60 percent of their game strategy is to get the ball in the air and I feel we'll be ready for them."

For all purposes, Cherry Hill put the game out of reach against Annapolis in the second quarter when the Spartans amassed a 24-0 lead. Cherry Hill got its final TD in the last period.

Daryl Gallant scored two touchowns. The senior fullback lunged over the goal line from the four and later hooked up with QB Rick Searcy on a 40-yard screen pass.

Minor's first TD of his senior campaign was a sterling 50-yard run, while Jon Sweet and Searcy teamed up on a 58-yard pass-run play that netted the winners another six-points. Green swept seven-yards into the end zone for the final tally.

Minor kicked the first point-after, but failed to capitalize on the other chances.

While the offense was purring, the Cherry Hill defense pinned Annapolis deep into its territory. In fact, Annapolis didn't penetrate beyond midfield during the entire half.

Minor was the leading rusher as he piled up 81 yards on eight carries while Green had 54 on six tries. Searcy hit on three of three passes for 132 yards and Minor, who alternated with Searcy at QB, connected on one of three for 15 yards.

Linebackers Wayne Nichols and Sweet spearheaded the defense as Nichols counted five tackles and an assist, and Sweet had two tackles and four assists.

The secondary picked off five passes with Searcy returning one interception for 38 yards; Simmons advancing one for 17 and Green carrying the ball back 15 yards. Minor and Randy Frederick also intercepted.

Bob Tamm also earned accolades for his defensive effort, and Pawloski said, "you'd have to give the entire team credit for an excellent all-around performance." He later stressed, "that, though we are certainly glad about the victory, one game doesn't make a season. We have a lot more ahead of us."

Price, Legion '9' reach World Series

Belleville hurler has outstanding season

Stan Price, a lanky southpaw who starred on the mound as a prep at Belleville High, was a prominent figure in Allen Park Legion Post 109's drive for the national title.

Price, a sophomore at Washtenaw Community College this year, aided the Legion team in its drive to win the league, state and Great Lakes National Legion Regional Championships.

The regional championship was Price and his teammates' ticket to the Legion World Series staged last week in Yakima, Washington where the local players were eliminated after losing two and finished fifth.

"This was my first exposure to national competition," said the 18-year-old Price. "It was really exciting and I wish I could do it all over again."

Price pointed out that national tournament competition and prep ball is as different as the sun and the moon. "There really is no comparison," he added. "It's something that you and your teammates never will forget."

Price, a 5-11½, 150-pound hurler, and his teammates wound up the 1978 campaign with an 18-6 over-all record. He'll be resting up his arm most of the fall after sustaining an elbow injury in the national finals.

Warming-up

Ex-Belleville hurler, Stan Price, was instrumental in helping Allen Park's Legionaires capture the coveted state and Great Lakes National Legion Regional championships which qualified them for the Legion's "World Series" held in Washington. The state representatives finished fifth, in their first appearance at the nationals.

St. Al's Arrows ruin Romulus grid return

"The rust that has gathered for two years is still very obvious."

That was rookie Coach Don Foley's summation after Dearborn St. Alphonsus spoiled the Eagle coaches and his grididers' return to football, 21-0, Saturday afternoon at Edsel Ford High.

Romulus didn't field a varsity grid squad last year because of the lack of money and Foley has been putting the pieces together. Those pieces obviously lacked a lot of cohesiveness as the Arrows pierced through Romulus' defense to chalk up a 15-0 halftime lead before going on to the opening day victory.

"Our defense spent a lot of time on the field," lamented Foley, "but I feel they handled themselves very well. We just have a lot of work to do on offense, especially on execution."

"And I feel it's a matter of time that we'll solve that problem," Foley added.

Romulus did manage to put together a sustained drive early in the third period, but that threat fizzled at the Arrow 20-yard line where the hosts intercepted.

Richard Lewis and John Kersey led the over-worked Eagle defenders who have an even bigger job this week when they host Detroit Pershing Friday for Romulus' home opener.

The Detroiters are coming off of an impressive 22-0 shutout over their arch city rivals, Northeastern.

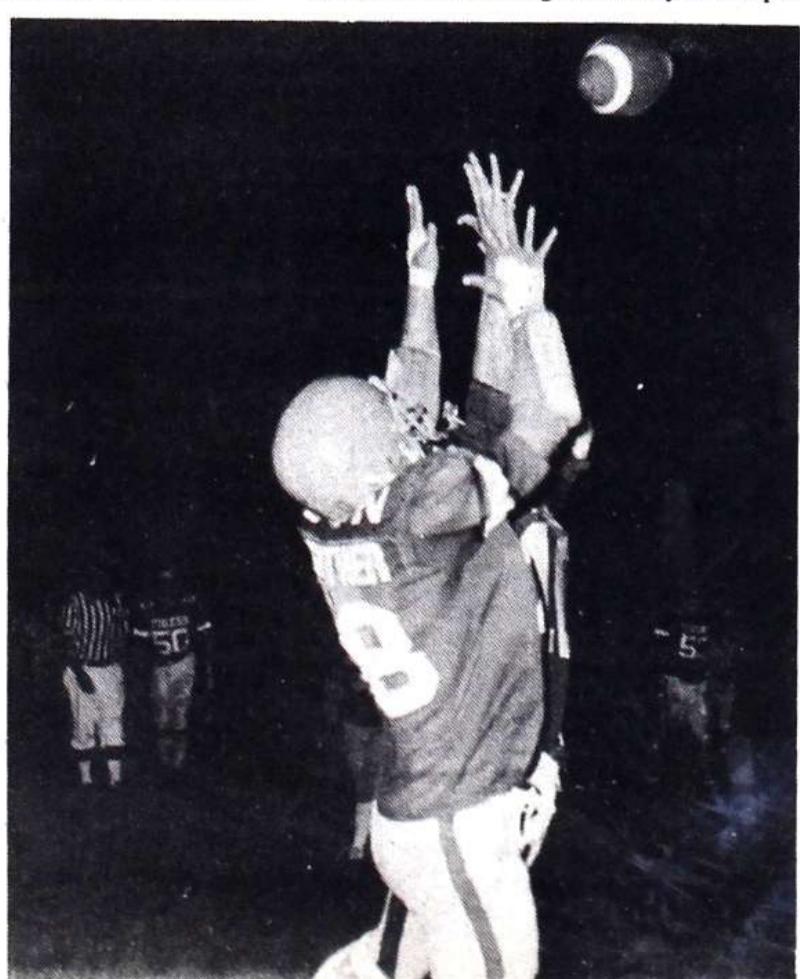

Foley described Pershing's team as "big, very big."

"In fact, I'll go on record as saying they (Pershing) will be the biggest team we will see this year."

Kickoff at Romulus High on Friday is 3:30 p.m.

Reach for it

With a Wayne defender riding shotgun, Belleville's Kevin Guenther (28) reaches for this pass that slips from the target during Friday night's opening game between the two area rivals. The last two encounters between Wayne and Belleville were forced into overtime before Wayne managed to pull out the victory, however, the Zebras had a relatively easy time in their debut, pulling down the Tigers 33-6.

ERNE RIGHETTI

Harriers to be honored at banquet

Wayne Invitational going first class

Ernie Righetti has big things planned for the 1978 Wayne Invitational Cross Country Meet.

The meet, which usually brings together some 16 area high school teams, will be staged at Wayne Memorial on October 7 and the competition is among the best in the state.

"In previous years," Righetti said, "we awarded trophies immediately after the invitational, usually right near the finish line and there were no real ceremonies associated with it."

"However, this year we have raised money through the efforts of the Wayne Track and Cross Country Booster Club and we will hold an awards banquet where we will make the presentations to the winning teams and the All-Invitational runners."

Righetti, who is a former Wayne and Eastern Michigan University track star, added that the reason behind the unprecedented move, "was to draw attention to the sport."

"During the fall most of the ink goes to the football team, and those who run cross country are usually left out, so we decided to honor these kids in a special way."

Righetti pointed out that he has not found a guest speaker for the occasion, but "hopefully before Oct. 7 we'll have all these things ironed out."

Wayne figures to be in the thick of the title run for not only its invitational but for the conference and regional championships. Though Righetti lost his ace, Rick Blaha to graduation, (Rick is attending Wayne State University on a full ride scholarship) and also lost Ron Mason and Tim Quaintance to graduation, the Zebras have excellent talent returning off of last year's team that finished with a perfect 9-0 dual meet record and was undefeated (6-0) at invitational and finished fifth in the state.

One of those holdovers is Doug Tolson who, as a sophomore a year ago, finished seventh in the state. In pre-season trials, Tolson ran a 14:57 on the home 3-mile course, shattering the previous record held by Blaha and eclipsing Westland John Glenn's all-stater, Ted Unold's best mark of 15:25.

Wayne also boasts in its lineup Paul Spencer, an all-league, All-Area performer, Mark Michalowski, Andy Stopchinski and sophomore Joe Tonna, who looks good. Seniors

Dave Rose and Gary Dyke along with Don Wellman round out the veteran list.

Wayne launched the nonleague phase of the season Tuesday afternoon against an always strong Edsel Ford which received a reprieve of execution thanks to the voters who approved a millage levy that will provide funds to keep sports alive in Dearborn this year.

Righetti sees Fordson as his main threat to the conference title.

"I saw them at the Early Bird Invitational (Lincoln Park)," Righetti remarked and they looked good. In fact, they won the meet very handily. However, I thought it would have been much closer if Glenn had a solid fifth runner."

Wayne will place its Schoolcraft College title on the block Saturday in the team's first test for statewide recognition. A victory at Schoolcraft, one of the early major tests of the season, would give the Zebras the dubious honor of being the team to beat in Western Wayne County.

"I am convinced that Tolson is among the best runners in the state this year," Righetti said, "and Spencer is not that far behind. However, we're going to have to get some consistent performances from the rest of our runners and, if we do, I am certain that we will do well."

Robichaud reaps what it sowed

Oak Park, bent on revenge, struck in the last minute and scored on a pass that humbled Dearborn Heights Robichaud 14-6 in the season's football opener for the two teams.

A year ago, Robichaud coach Bob

Yauck and the Bulldogs jolted Oak Park by swiping a victory away from their nonleague rivals by winning on a last play, last pass which appeared to set the wheels in motion for a successful Robichaud season.

"It was about the reverse of a year ago," noted Yauck whose Bulldogs have another tough test Friday afternoon when they host Clarenceville. "We beat them as time ran out - they did it to us with 40 seconds left in the game."

After Oak Park got on the scoreboard for six points in the first quarter, Robichaud managed to tie it up when, after a bad Oak Park snap from center, Calvin Townsend grabbed the ball and ran it over from six yards out.

The Bulldogs failed to make the conversion and the game was tied at 6-all.

Oak Park marched the length of the field after the ensuing kick-off and with 40 seconds remaining scored the decisive touchdown on a third-and-six aerial.

Robichaud again made serious overtures to score as sophomore quarterback Sidney Brisbane hooked up on a 39-yard pass-run play with speedster Mark Woodson.

At the Oak Park 28, however, the Parkers got out of trouble and won the game when they picked off the final pass of the game.

"We threatened several times, in fact we were down to the Oak Park five-yard line a couple of times and couldn't go the distance," said Yauck. "On one of those occasions the threat was erased because of an illegal use of hands penalty against us."

Yauck was pleased, though, over the performance of inexperienced Brisbane, "who showed a lot of poise under pressure."

Brisbane also passed for 97 yards, hitting on four of 10 chances. On the receiving end of most of those passes was Daryl Goree. Ron Williams also caught two of the aerials for 40 yards and Woodson, one of the top sprinters in the state, rushed for over 100 yards on 10 tries.

Ralph Payne, injured in the fourth quarter, will probably be back at his middle linebacker's slot, a void that was obvious when he departed from the Oak Park game.

Townsend, a 6-2, 255-pound defensive tackle, was one of the brighter spots in Yauck's defense which needs a lot of polish. Calvin had three sacks of the quarterback and also returned the punt for the touchdown.

If Robichaud continues to reap what it sowed a year ago, the Bulldogs could be in trouble Friday night. They also beat Clarenceville with a last minute touchdown.

Will the loss spur the Chargers to better things?

"I hope so," said Westover, "but we don't have a Tobin Jones. Jones was Churchill's trump card, but the durable harrier has graduated and is running for Wayne State."

(Special to ANP)

Schuele had special praise for Santilli and Gearn.

"Santilli was actually a fill in for one of our starters who was sick tonight and we thought he did an outstanding job, while Gearn is the only sophomore who starts for us and he did a super job - much better than we had a right to expect from such a young player," Schuele said.

Santilli was in on eight tackles for the Chiefs, for of them unassisted. Gearn made seven stops, three unassisted and sacked the Bentley quarterback Dave Cabrera once, keeping the pressure on him all night.

Offensively, the Chiefs were not exactly awesome but they did get some strong running from Mandle who had 20 carries for 105 yards. Canton unveiled a solid passing attack as well as QB Scotty Dawson connected on six of seven tosses for 79 yards.

Canton scored first with 51 seconds remaining in the first quarter on a one-yard quarterback sneak by Dawson.

The TD was set up by a Bentley fumble which was recovered on the Canton 37. The drive was highlighted by a 15-yard pass completion from Dawson to Joe Mallare and a 25-yard run by Bob Hamblin on a pitchout.

Canton got on the board again midway through the second quarter, moving 56 yards in 10 plays. The drive saw Mandle carry the ball five times for 28 yards, going the final four for the TD.

For the night the Chiefs amassed 345 yards total offense and nine first downs. The score could have been much higher but several sloppy pitchouts and numerous offensive penalties halted potential good drives during the second half.

Schuele put a new wrinkle in his defense, by "flopping" defensive ends Gearn and Eddy.

"We wanted Gearn on the wide side of the field because of his speed and ability to shut down the run," said the Canton mentor.

The strategy apparently worked as the Bulldogs managed only 130 yards total offense and only 60 yards of that on the ground. The victory by Canton avenges a tough last second loss to the Bulldogs last year when Bentley scored on a long desperation pass.

With the taste of victory still sweet in their mouths, the Chiefs will spend the week working on fundamentals and they hope to make Dearborn Heights Annapolis, a 31-0 loser to Cherry Hill in their opener, the next course on the menu when the two nonleague rivals clash Friday night on the Chiefs' field.

Cougar gridders win two

The Belleville Cougars launched the 1978 Junior Football League season by sweeping two of three games from the Westland Comets.

The Cougar Freshmen edged the Comets 7-6 in a thriller as Danny Zieler ran for a 45-yard touchdown.

The Junior Varsity came up short against their peers 12-6 as Michael Cameron provided the losers with an excellent all-around performance. Jerry Umin scored the lone Cougar tally.

In another close game, the Cougar Varsity won a 7-6 victory as John Dillion hit on a scoring pass to Jim Daniels after Eric Ball set up the TD on a long run. Ball scored the extra point.

EARL KEIMREALTY

Home is the place where character is built, where sacrifices for the happiness of others are made, and where love has taken its abode.

A home should be a stockade, a refuge for the flaming arrows of anxiety, tension and worry.

A place to drop your cares, to find happiness and realize the wisdom of simplicity.

A place to gather your family together, where dinnertime can be a time of candlelight, music and conversation, serious and gay. Share a great thought and discuss it. Say a prayer of thankfulness for your blessings.

Home is the place to prepare for tomorrow, that you may go forth as a new person, with a new spirit, to meet triumphantly the challenges of the outside world.

We here at KEIM have many houses - but we need YOU to make them a home. Call or stop by today to see our fine selections.

Do your partBack-to-safety tips

Safety is surely a topic for all seasons, but probably it gets most emphasis at back-to-school time.

It's a subject that includes rules for everybody involved — drivers, walkers and riders.

You've heard the safe driving tips before, but some bear repeating. It is, first of all, a state law that you stop your car 10 feet away from a school bus that has stopped to pick up or drop off passengers. You must stop whether you are behind the bus, or coming towards it in the opposite direction.

According to Wayne-Westland Schools bus dispatcher Lloyd Barber, a bus driver activates her flashers 200 feet before she stops, to give ample warning to drivers.

Drivers must also heed the directions of safety patrol-persons stationed at intersections. Armed with red stop signs, these crossing guards have the right of way and of law.

Parents driving their youngsters to school are driving under unique circumstances. For one thing, they must be aware that there will be many students walking the same routes. So drivers should be careful to come to a complete stop at stop signs, and be careful turning corners. Walking students will be crossing streets, and should be given the right of way.

Drivers should not only observe speed limits, but drive even slower with the possibility in mind that a youngster may forget his safety training and dart out in front of the car.

Parents who drive their children to school must be extremely cautious in the school parking lot, where numerous children will be walking, standing or running.

Many times, a school will have a "drop-off point" where the parents should stop to let their children out of the car.

Rain brings out more drivers, and more hazards, so naturally those conditions warrant special care.

Students must take responsibility for safety when walking to school as well, and it is a good idea for parents to discuss safety tips with their children.

The youngsters should walk along established routes to and from school, and in groups of two or more. They should be cautioned about the dangers of pushing other children, running or playing close to the street.

Students should realize that they must obey not only the adult crossing guards, but the student safety squad members.

Bus riding poses a whole different set of safety rules.

Barber pointed out that a bus could actually be called a moving classroom, and the word of the bus driver is law. Those rules and regulations for bus riding are set down in writing and sent home to parents.

Students should take their seats and stay in them. No standing, or moving around is allowed, no smoking or excessive noise. The bus driver has plenty to concentrate on while driving the vehicle, without having to worry about control a gang of unruly children.

Students should try to be at their bus stop about five minutes early, too, to make sure they are ready when the bus arrives.

In the final analysis, what matters most is that everyone does his or her part to make the school transportation system — be it by foot, in a car or a bus — as safe as possible. If you spot a potentially hazardous condition, inform your local school principal.

Busing is Big Business

Busing is a big business in some school districts, such as Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, where more than 90 percent of students ride to school.

Inkster districts are small and students walk to schools. Most students walk no more than a mile and a half, although a few may go further.

The state rule is that if busing is provided at all to regular students in a district, it must be offered to students living more than a mile and a half away from school.

In all school districts, special education students are usually bused, either because they go to a different district for classes, or are handicapped and cannot get to school without transportation.

There are other special busing circumstances as well, such as for Head Start students and some high school students in the Inkster School District who are taken to classes at the high school annex.

As a rule, though, the

With winter's short daylight hours, it is essential that drivers become aware of the hazard associated with driving during the normal school rush hours. Most of the hazards are easily overcome with the application of common sense, but extra caution is required to ensure that the school bound youngsters do not become traffic victims.

School days

Dear old' golden rule' days!

By SUE McDONALD
ANP News Editor

As a child, it seemed to me that the summer flew by after the Fourth of July. Before I knew it was time for school. But then, by the time summer was over, I was ready to go back to school.

The feeling probably is the same for most Western Wayne County students today. They've done everything they wanted to do, and those lazy, hazy days of summer are getting to be a bit monotonous.

Mothers are starting to gather up their suntanned brood for trips to the department stores to stock up on the latest in back-to-school attire, replace worn-out lunch boxes and book bags and acquire a supply of pens, pencils and note paper.

Ah yes, it's that time of the year again. It's back to school, and to help our readers face that annual "delight", Associated Newspapers has come up with a different look at heading back to the classroom.

Naturally, being prepared for the opening day of school means durable clothes, sturdy shoes and book bags and indestructable lunch boxes. But parents and drivers also have to prepare themselves for the resumption of classes.

That's why in this special section we at Associated Newspapers have gone beyond showing what's in school fashions this year.

Do you know what it will cost to send a well-equipped youngster into the classroom? Inflation has hit in school supplies as with everything else, and we give you an idea of what expense is involved. Granted the schools will providing some of the supplies, but what the extras cost is the question.

And for those parents whose youngsters have shown an inclination towards organized school sports, we'll give you a look at the expense of their equipment — both required and suggested.

And for those of you who will be "ferrying" your students to and from school, we've included information of school safety and how to avoid school bus accidents. It also gives students who will be walking, or riding the bus, safety tips.

For those riding buses, there's information on bus scheduling and who to contact about your respective route.

If that's not enough, prominent people in Western Wayne County and their youngsters will be showing what their children will be wearing when the school doors open next month.

In all, we think you, the reader, will find this back to school section both informative and interesting.

Achievement and fashion

Boy's fashion this year

There's one thing about children's fashion this year — similar styles run through every age bracket and category.

That is, according to fashion experts at the Westland Shopping Center, the fashion for fall and winter are applicable to young people of all ages.

And in many cases, the same styles can be applied to either sex, boy or girl.

For the very young child, boys, like girls, find their clothing has acquired the "warm and woolly" look, featuring heavy textured materials like alpaca and wool.

There are wool pants and vests, big sweaters to go over that and heavy overcoats and jackets to fit over it all.

Fashion watchers are talking about the possibilities of wearing one "look" for your basic garb, then creating another "look" by what you wear on top of that.

Remember how Grandma used to admonish Mom about "bundling up" her kids against the cold? — and now, it has even become fashionable!

As the boys get older, their fashions expand into a couple of other areas.

Coming on very strong right now is the "Disco Effect". It represents a complete turnaround from the very popular and very long-wearing scruffy effect of beat-up jeans and ragged T-shirts.

Disco is smart, tailored and a little toward the sensational. For the male it means sharp, tucked-waist vested jackets with flared pants and well-heeled boots. Often the suit is a light color contrasted with a dark shirt, in imitation of John Travolta. Usually there is no tie.

Athletic fashion requirements

It's almost time to go back to school--where the students will "hit the books" and exercise in the gym while they do their calisthenics.

To be honest, probably both their minds and bodies have been largely inactive over the lazy summer vacation months. And it will take "some doing" to get themselves back in gear again.

As far as what sports clothes and equipment they'll need to take with them, the answer is fairly simple.

Each student must provide his or her own personal clothing for physical education classes in the gym. In addition, each one will bring such items as shorts, gym shoes (tennis shoes, if you prefer), shirt, socks and towels.

These items are fairly inexpensive and do not amount to very much of the family budget. One local high school athletic director said his district used to provide towels for the students, but it got to be too expensive and now each teenager brings his own.

The school provides a locker to store the student's personal belongings and a lock to keep them secure. Also, the school provides all equipment needed for the variety of games played in the gym program.

Most high school gym classes participate in volleyball, basketball, tennis, flag football, swimming, paddleball, and many have now added weight-training courses.

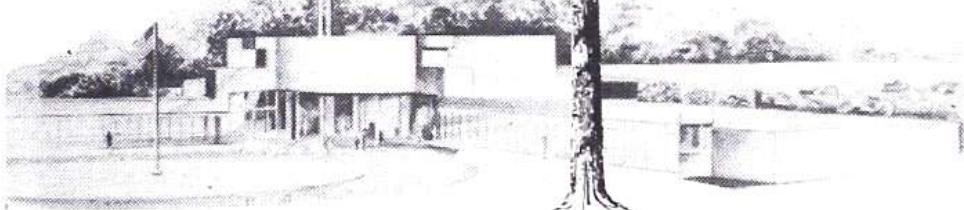

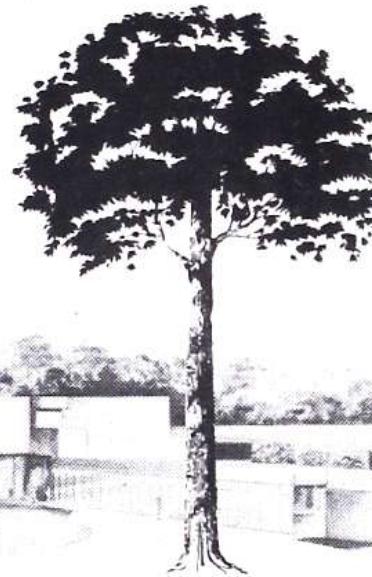

That's not your basic weight-watchers' type of program, but, rather, working with different sets of weights in lifting barbells.

"Girls are getting more and more into the program of lifting weights in the weight room," said a local athletic director. "We have what's called a 'universal machine' that takes very little effort to change the amount of weight to be lifted and it's already mounted for the person working out."

There's classroom studies on diet, first-aid and proper care of the body, including eating and sleeping habits.

All in all, students are getting a lot more attention in physical education classes nowadays than just the simple "jumping jacks" many learned years ago.

Summer's almost over, and the season change is reflected in the fashions worn by Canton Township Trustee Lynne Goldsmith and her son Scott. She's wearing a multi-colored check all-cotton jacket and blue slacks, also of cotton. Scott's dressed in "cords" — the corduroy pants very popular this fall, with a short-sleeved cotton shirt, wide leather belt, and Kinney's sneakers. — ANP Photo by Tom Greenwood.

The 'Layered Look'

Boy's fashion

(With — any luck, this smart evening wear will carry over into school and street wear and young men will start to look eye-catching again!)

Past the teens into young adulthood, men and women will find their fashions are converging. Women have opened the season by going in strongly for the traditional business wool suit, complete with long-sleeved shirt and sometimes a tie.

Men have retaliated — or is it retreated? — into what seems to be an even heavier traditional garb.

During this period of their lives, which might be called the "Beginning Business" period, it seems that young men are trying to look older (and more successful) than they are.

They're going so far as to wear dark pinstriped suits navy blue is a favorite color — matching vests, and a gold watch chain looped from the vest pocket a la Grandpa.

Even though there's usually no watch to go on the end of the chain, one almost expects to see a heavy gold "railroad retirement" timepiece drawn from a vest pocket, its case flipped open, and the time scrutinized.

Those are the trends for boys and mens fashions this year. One thing can be said for sure — it's going to be a very dressy school season.

Girls fashions

Annie Hall look is in

The big news about girls' fashions this year is that, for casual wear, they're dressing like boys.

Now, that's not too startling a story for the very young. Let's say, who have always worn jeans or overalls to withstand their vigorous romps.

But, according to Westland fashion department heads, the "big look" for pre-teen and teen girls this year is called the "Annie Hall."

It's named after the Woody Allen comedy drama. Woody's offbeat girl, you remember, frequently dressed as kind of a pseudo-male — with ties, loose vests and coats, combined with long skirts and floppy hats.

Well, the many-flounced skirts and baggy-waisted blouson are apparently still with us, but this new trend is also anti-truffles, they say.

This time, starting with very young children who are just off the floor and onto their two feet, the look has gone all the way — it features such traditional menswear items as ties, suits, tie clasps and stickpins.

Almost everything is heavily into vests — three-piece suits, dresses, and skirt sets — all come with vests or suggestions to find one and match the outfit.

The "warm and woolly look" also puts emphasis on wools, tweeds, and corduroys.

This dovetails very nicely with the needs of young women and career women as we move up the age scale.

Round-up

School supplies

Hey, no respectable kid should be seen starting the new school year without a Fonzie lunch pail under his arm.

Along with pencils, notebooks and glue supplies the lunch pail and thermos-bottle play a very important role in preparing your child for the ups and downs of school life.

According to experts in the field a child without an updated supply of lunchtime paraphernalia is like a teacher without a shiny apple atop her desk.

One self-described expert is John Swartz, 7, who takes joy in dragging his mother Mary through the aisles of local department stores where school supplies are in such an overabundance that pencils, pens, glue caps and what-not are falling into the flow of pre-school traffickers.

In the bag

School bags are in, but literally, this back-to-school season. Thanks to accessory designers, this season's bags feature the school bag look in leather or canvas.

Special compartments for books, pens and pencils are making new on some of the season's canvas bags.

Other handbags that'll be in favor this fall are satchels, shoulder pouches and expanding envelopes, with leather a continuing trend.

Fringes of fur tails are adding a Western touch to the season's newest small pouches, as well.

Mayor and Miss Taylor

Westland Mayor Thomas Taylor does the honors for the "Apple of his eye", his 10-year-old daughter Tammy, at Johnson Elementary School. Tammy will be starting school with a two-piece, peasant-style dress, accented with a ruffled hem and floral print, in her wardrobe. Completing the ensemble, which is gathered at the neck with a ruffled Peter Pan collar are coordinated knee-socks and leather oxfords for girls.

Traditionally, the wool suit has been the businessman's badge of success — changed recently only by the addition of a vest.

Now the wool suit for women — often in the same price range as the man's — has come into style. While the aspiring career woman can choose between using the suit coat with a skirt or pants, she can now achieve that tailored look that could give her, too, a touch of distinction.

The blouse, of course, can be kept feminine, with a large bow or ribbon where a man would wear a tie.

But tied, or un-tied, slacks or skirt, the young woman on her way up is emulating the "success suit" of the traditional male.

It's a different story on the disco scene. Disco dance places cater to everyone from teenagers to young adult's — and for clothing, all the stops are out.

In a refreshing change from the "scruff" of recent years, both women and men are dressing to the teeth for the young nightclub scene.

For women, the dresses range from elegant to seductive, slinky and clingy, set off by dangling earring and those spike "chorus girl" T-strap shoes — open-toed in the Thirties' style.

And for this, the grand appearance, dresses of the sleekest and most clinging fabrics are chosen.

The look gets something from many eras — the Twenties, and Thirties, as well as the Fifties — but the way it puts them together is the way that is all its own.

School closings no problem if you...

Once school starts in the fall, you can be sure that the snow season is not too far behind.

And with snow, comes the possibility of blizzards, ice and school closings.

Mayor of Wayne Paul Lada and his daughter Jeanne Marie pose near Wayne Memorial High School to show some of the fashion wear for this fall. Jeanne is dressed for leisure in slacks, long-winged collar blouse, and the ever-present vest, which appears on a variety of styles this year. Her father is wearing a breezy sport suit with light jacket, wide, patterned tie, and slightly darker trousers, and white shoes. — ANP Photo by Tom Greenwood.

All of the school districts in the Associated Newspapers circulation area have issued the same alert to parents: listen to local radio stations to hear if your school will be closed.

It is pretty much the rule in all of the Detroit metropolitan schools that they let the media — radio and television — inform the public when schools are closed down.

Schools generally use the procedure of having personnel drive through the district early in the morning on a potential "snow day." The conditions are noted, and the superintendent makes the ultimate decision on whether to open or close schools. This decision is usually made by 6 a.m., since the district is aware that working parents must make arrangements, that teachers might drive far to work, and that some bus runs begin quite early.

The superintendent then usually calls the local police department, gives its appropriate code and the information about the schools. The information is sent out on the LEIN (Law Enforcement Information Network) teletype machine and picked up by the media.

In some cases, the school officials may inform the radio stations themselves. Standard stations to broadcast such information include WWJ, WJR, CKLW, WXYZ and some television stations.

Usually, the parents in each district are informed of the school closing procedure in a school newsletter sent out early in the season.

School officials ask that parents listen to the appropriate radio stations, rather than call the board offices, although the schools do try and have personnel at the switchboard to take calls.

In one local district, Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, there is a hotline number, 453-0271. Not only does the recorded message give information on school closings, but throughout the school year gives information on board meetings and district news.

Fall fashions for both young ladies and their mothers have a lot in common this year — they're similar for every age bracket, as illustrated here by Pat Cullen, Van Buren Township Supervisor, and her daughter, 10-year-old Marri. Marri will be going to Haggerty School this fall, while her mother helps supervise the township, but the cut of their suits is much the same. Mrs. Cullen additionally wears a shoulder bag, and a rose stickpin, the 'in' accessories for the businesswoman. — ANP Photo by Tom Greenwood.

'Going out of sight'

Athletic costs parents must tackle

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

Everyone in high school must participate in physical education programs, unless they're given special permission to be excluded.

You even have to know how to swim before you can graduate from some high schools.

Inkster Mayor Terrel LeCesne prepares his son Haydel Christopher LeCesne for school at St. Norberts on Inkster Road near Cherry Hill. The mayor is wearing black silk slacks with a white jacket pinstriped in black, while his son is dressed more casually. Businessmen's clothes are showing more contrasting colors as autumn approaches.

But there are the more gifted athletes who go on to represent their high school in varsity competition against other high school rivals.

And the cost of equipping and clothing varsity teams is climbing at a very fast rate. So fast, in fact, that many coaches and athletic directors are concerned.

However, the actual cost to the individual athlete is not very much because the school supplies the vast majority of equipment.

For instance, the athletes supply their own footwear in every sport. It's just too costly for the schools to buy shoes for every player.

Sometimes a special need arises, like a kicking shoe in football, and the school will purchase one. The "Kicking shoe", as many people know, is used by the one booting extra points after touchdowns or attempting 3-point field goals from longer distances.

In all boys and girls sports, the school supplies the school uniform and all protective equipment. And the cost can be very high.

As one area athletic director put it, "The costs of sports equipment are going out of sight."

The clothing itself is rising at about the same rate as other clothes but the cost of equipment is increasing at a much more rapid pace.

For those who are interested, ice hockey is the most expensive sport to outfit and fully protect the average player.

Football is next in line when it comes to shelling out dollars for the average player. Schools usually carry from 24 to 44 players on the team and shoulder pads, hip pads, fore arm pads and all other pads do not come cheap.

Adding to the cost of the football program is the fact that each high school carries a junior varsity team of about 40 players who need to be outfitted.

On the other hand, soccer teams, basketball teams, volleyball teams and similar squads are very inexpensive to finance.

One thing for parents to keep in mind is the old saying: "You get just what you pay for."

It's always best to make sure you get quality sports clothes and equipment, even if it costs you a few more dollars.

The additional cost is worth the peace of mind that comes from knowing you have given your son or daughter the best protection you possibly could.

School supplies make shopping trip

(Continued from Page 5) department stores where school supplies are in such an overabundance that pencils, pens, glue caps and what-not are falling into the flow of pre-school traffickers.

But kids like John don't mind the untidiness. This time of year is traditionally chaotic. It's back to school time.

Lunch pails come in assorted shapes sizes, as well as classics. Your faddish and trendy styles are spotlighted. And your basic black steel hard boxes are still on hand but have long ago faded out of popularity.

Kids like John who prefer either the Hardy Boys lunch pail or the Fonzie box would not be caught dead on school grounds with a black, tin box.

"That's for dad," said the Westland resident quite authoritatively.

Price ranges for the "in" supply of lunch boxes begins at $2.57 for those non-inclusive of thermos bottles. Those with the thermos containers run as high as $5.50.

Pencils can be quite useful, John concedes.

The retail market pricings for your standard yellow pencil is about 84 cents for 16 pencils. Extra attachable erasers are about 29 cents for a half-dozen.

Plastic rulers run about 36 cents, while surprisingly enough the wooden rulers are only 16 cents a piece.

Glue can run anywhere from 24 cents to 60 cents. Quality is in the eye of the beholder.

Crayons. For those who feel a sense of security sticking with the old faithfuls — none other than Crayola crayons — the price range goes like this:

A 24-crayon package costs 74 cents. A 48-crayon pack runs $1.22 and the parent who wants to shoot the works in hopes the crayons will outlast the novelty a 64-piece package will cost $1.68.

For the parent who's goal is to buy enough crayons — of any brand — to make it through the year, the best bet as well as the cheapest is to buy a non-brand name. If that's the choice the package for 64-crayons will only cost $1.28. Cheaper, obviously.

Again quality is a relative discernment. Brief cases, to carry those essentials, range from $1.99 to $5.

And one must not forget that without paper, child cannot create. Paper can usually be found in packs of 200 sheets costing about $1.50 per packet. Today in most local department stores the 200 sheet package is the easiest to find.

Bussing, big business

Students within the mile and a half may be bused, because of hazardous walking conditions for example, but the state only reimburses the local district for the students more than a mile and a half from their school.

In the Wayne-Westland Community Schools, more than 6,000 students will ride buses to school this fall, according to Lloyd Barber, dispatcher. This number is higher than last year, primarily because of the closing of six schools. Students transferred to further schools have to be bused. Most of the busing is at the high school and junior high level, although there is some busing at 13 elementary schools, too, he said.

The bus schedules are being completed now and will be released through the news media soon.

Naturally, the buses try to be on time and stick with the schedule, but Barber pointed out that the district's biggest worry regarding keeping to the schedule is the blocking of train crossings. With railroads cutting across the district, a bus can be delayed because of a train.

In the Plymouth-Canton

District, 11,400 of the district's 15,000 students ride buses, said Elaine Goodrich, route coordinator. Not only do bus schedules have to be coordinated, but that scheduling must jibe with the different "tracks" of schools on the year-round school calendar, as well as traditional schedule. A computer figures it out, and any problems are ironed out by the transportation department.

She said that cards are being sent to students' homes this week telling the place and time of the bus stop for each child.

Van Buren School District is another system that relies heavily on bus transportation. Of the 8,200 students in the district, some 7,000 are bused. The district is largely rural, so homes are spread out and students live far from their schools. The bus schedules are mailed to students before the start of school.

Bus stops are located "centrally" in places where there are clusters of homes, but many times a bus stop may have only one to three children.

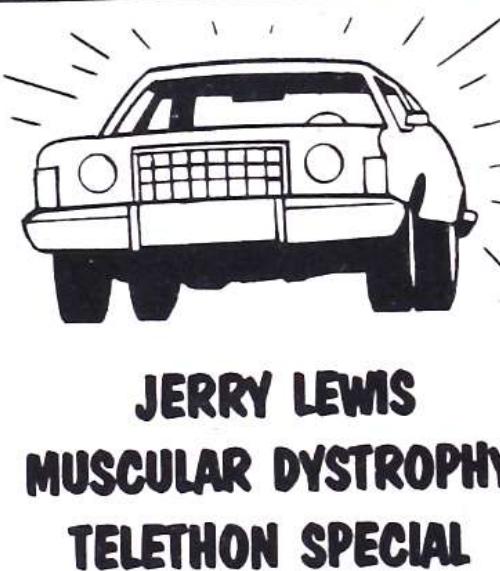

Because so many students ride to school, in cases where buses cannot run because of snow, schools are closed. There is never a case where school remains open but buses don't run.

The case is usually the same in Romulus Schools. Again in this district, most students ride to school. Of the 6,200 enrolled, some 4,500 to 5,000 ride buses.

In the next few weeks, the district will mail home bus schedules for the coming school year.

Youngsters safely bat it out with a soft plastic, adjustable batting tee and soft baseball designed especially for smaller, beginning sports enthusiasts. This wide range of lightweight, safer, junior sporting-goods equipment by Cosom, a leader in the field, helps elementary school students learn basic sports skills without applying great strength or muscle coordination.
